Agnew resignation 'discussed'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has discussed the possibility of resigning with President Nixon. A spokesman said "Nixon neither encouraged nor discouraged him."
Confirmation by Deputy Press Secretary Gerald R. Warren of recent rumors that Agnew has considered resigning came moments after Speaker Carl Albert swiftly turned down Agnew's request that the House rather than the courts undertake an investigation of political wrongdoing against the vice president.

Gem Senators split on veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho's senators split Tuesday as the Senate upheld President Nixon's veto of a bill expanding federal disaster assistance, 59-36.
Democrat Sen. Frank Church voted to override the veto while Republican Sen. James A. McClure voted to sustain the veto. The vote was five short of the two-thirds majority needed to override the veto.

Boyle remains near death

WASHINGTON (UPI) — W.A. "Tony" Boyle lay near death today — being kept alive by mechanical devices — after what his doctor called an apparent suicide attempt with an overdose of drugs.
The former president of the United Mine Workers union was described as in "a deep coma." Officials at George Washington University hospital said he had not regained consciousness since being admitted at 11:30 p.m. EDT Monday, 10 hours before he was to face a hearing connected with multiple murder charges against him.

Chileans 'tighten belts'

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Argentina's powerful General Federation of Workers (CGT) paralyzed the country today with a general strike to protest the assassination by guerrillas of CGT leader Jose Rucci on Tuesday.
Rucci, 48, a strong supporter of president-elect Juan D. Peron, was the country's top labor leader. His position was similar to that of AFL-CIO President George Meany in the United States. The CGT called a general strike from 6 p.m. Tuesday until midnight today. Buenos Aires, a city of over 7 million people.

Carl Fugate hearing set

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — The Nebraska Pardon Board has set Oct. 30 for a hearing on the latest bid for freedom by Carl Ann Fugate, 30, who has been in prison since 1959.
She was the accomplice of Charles Starkweather, who was executed in 1959 for his part in the murders of a dozen persons in Nebraska. She was sentenced to a life term.

Rehabilitation law signed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon signed into law today a vocational rehabilitation bill, scaled down from a version he vetoed twice before as too costly.
The two-year measure authorizes $1.54 billion in grants to states, local governments and private agencies to operate programs of rehabilitating the handicapped for jobs.
The $756.3 million authorized for the current fiscal year is $56.2 million over Nixon's budget request.

'Mad bomber' may be freed

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Metesky, convicted of a one-man "mad bombing" campaign over 16 years in New York, may soon be a free man.
A judge mentally incompetent to stand trial in 1957, Metesky may be freed because his attorneys say under a new law he cannot be held longer than two thirds of the maximum sentence he would have received on conviction.

Argentine workers strike

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — The ruling military junta today announced a "belt tightening" program to restore the Chilean economy and said it would make increased foreign investment a top priority.
The junta also outlawed the country's biggest labor union, the Central Union of Workers (CUT), which is controlled by Socialists and Communists and which was one of former President Salvador Allende's main bastions of support.

Spiro probe bid refused

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speaker Carl Albert said today the House would not act "at this time" on a request from Vice President Spiro T. Agnew that the House, rather than the courts, undertake an investigation of allegations of wrongdoing against him.
Agnew backers could circumvent Albert's decision by the drastic method of introducing a resolution to impeach Agnew, thus forcing an inquiry. There was no indication, however, that such a move was being contemplated.

One House Republican, Rep. Paul Findley of Illinois, did introduce a resolution today calling for creation of a select committee to investigate whether the House shall undertake impeachment proceedings against the vice president.
The quick Albert decision came as a surprise.

House sources had indicated the leadership would probably mull over the Agnew request until at least next week.
Before Albert issued his statement, there was strong opposition to Agnew's proposal among House Democrats.
(Related Story p. 12)
Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., a member of the House Judiciary Committee which might conduct such an investigation, commented: "This suggestion is most unacceptable and inappropriate. I would vote not to substitute the House for the criminal justice system."

Rep. Edward Mezey, D-Iowa, also a committee member, said: "I think the courts should still pursue the matter. Agnew cannot sidestep the legal issue involved."

Senate OK's troop cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted today to cut U.S. troop strength overseas by 40 per cent over the next three years.
In a major surprise, senators adopted, 49-36, a proposal by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to bring 200,000 of 500,000 U.S. troops home from Europe and other overseas bases by June 30, 1976.
The vote was an amendment to add the provision to the defense authorization bill.
The language is likely to be dropped however before Congress completes action on the defense bill. A majority of House members has opposed any big cutback in U.S. troops in Europe. However, the Senate action confronted President Nixon and the European community with a major challenge to straighten out financing of 300,000 U.S. troops remaining in Europe a quarter century after World War II.

The vote came after a debate that lasted only two hours. Only a few members were on the floor to hear Mansfield's appeal for a reduction in forces.
Mansfield charged that other nations had grown fat while U.S. funds were drained to pay for their defense.
Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., led the opposition saying, "We're not in Europe for some altruistic reason. We're not there just to protect the West Europeans. We're there because... you keep your defense perimeter as far from your own shores as possible... We're there in the interests of the United States."

Food cost peaks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department acknowledged Tuesday what American housewives have known for over a month: the cost of an average family's market basket rose faster in August than any time since 1946 and now is at an all time high.
A monthly report from the department said typical food costs for a hypothetical family of 3.2 people jumped $2.38 a week after President Nixon lifted most food ceilings in July. It now stands at $31.79, up $6.30 from a year ago.
The cost of beef, which theoretically remained frozen at mid-summer levels until Sept. 12, rose from $1.36 a pound to a record $1.47 by the end of August.
Government specialists say the next report, covering September, probably will show some leveling in the price spiral because many farm and wholesale food prices have declined since mid-August.
But the experts also acknowledge that the basket price includes only the cost of U.S.-produced farm foods and does not take into account either fish or imported products, both of which are also reported going up.

US trade into red

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A big surge in imports last month dropped the U.S. trade balance into the red in August after an unusual surplus in July, the Commerce Department reported today.
At the same time, an index of business indicators that is considered a good measure of future economic trends continued to rise in August, but most of the increase was due to inflation.
The value of goods imported last month exceeded exports by $17 million.

Top memos hidden

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Presidential aide Patrick J. Buchanan told the Senate Watergate Committee today the White House has stored preselection political strategy memos with President Nixon's official papers to protect them from subpoena by investigators.
Buchanan, a speech writer who opened his first appearance before the committee by claiming his staff tried to damage his reputation with news leaks, said he did not bring along subpoenaed documents dealing with campaign strategy on the advice of White House lawyers.
At one point, he said he had urged Nixon campaign forces in 1971 to mount a concentrated effort against Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, then the leading contender for the Democratic presidential nomination. But he insisted that he never advocated any illegal actions.
"Is it the position of counsel at the White House that these memoranda dealing with political campaign strategy are not available under the subpoena because of executive privilege?" asked the committee's chief counsel, Samuel Dash.
"I think you would have to ask (White House) counsel what their position is, but I think that's not unreasonable in light of the fact that many of the memoranda are to the President of the United States; many of the memoranda deal with recommendations for presidential action, many of the memoranda were prepared at the direction of the President," Buchanan replied.

A summary of committee staff interviews earlier with Buchanan indicated he was part of a White House group that plotted "dirty tricks" in the 1972 presidential campaign, but he said today that his memos reflected nothing "illicit, unethical, improper or unprecedented."
He acknowledged that some of the language used in them was "uninhibited."
Buchanan said the memos covered the 1971-72 period and were taken from his personal files earlier this year to the basement of the Executive Office Building next door to the White House for inclusion with official presidential papers.
"An individual who worked with me on the campaign in 1972 came back from a committee hearing and said: 'They're going to subpoena all our files,'" Buchanan said. "I said, 'Let's go down to the counsel's office.'"

Ired rim owners organize

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — "It seems as though the disagreement is between the people who are here and the people who are not here," said Harry Turner, Twin Falls attorney.
So the people who were there Tuesday night — angry Snake River canyon rim landowners, real estate agents, and developers — decided to go to the people who were not there — Twin Falls County zoners and Commissioners, farmers and environmentalists.

They will go to a public hearing next Tuesday to protest the proposed agricultural zoning of a 300 foot strip along the Snake River canyon rim, north of Twin Falls City.
The landowners, real estate agents and builders are angry about the agricultural strip. It would effectively eliminate all development on the rim and drive down land values, they say.
About 60 of the late county residents attended a meeting Tuesday night in the Idaho Power Co. auditorium to organize their opposition.
They decided to come out in force at Tuesday's public hearing called by the county commissioners to take comment on the new county zoning ordinance, including the controversial rim zone.
They also decided to draft a formal resolution for presentation at the public hearing. A committee of 10 men — Lee Barnes, Bob Wills, Bill Peters, Gordon Greaves, A. K. Reed, John McKay, Tim Qualls, Harold Frazier, Dr. John McKain, and Turner — was appointed to draw up the resolution.
The resolution will be placed in the office of Twin Falls Police Capt. Qualls, where those in support are to come and sign it by Monday.
Dick Messersmith, a broker with Gem State Realty, led the organizational meeting at the Idaho Power auditorium Tuesday night.
Lamenting the "apathy" shown by the group during the drafting of the new zoning ordinance, ("We let things ride"), Messersmith called for unity in opposing the rim zone.
"That rim should be retained for development and tax revenue for the county," Messersmith said.
He also took a poke at the public hearing held by the Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission on the new ordinance: "I understand there were children from the first grade there reciting poems to keep the rim beautiful."
Messersmith said the people he "represents" are prepared to go "farther" than vocal opposition in fighting the rim zone. He apparently referred to possible court tests of the rim zone if it is adopted.

TF man draws Canada term

TWIN FALLS — A 25-year-old Twin Falls man has been sentenced to four years in prison in British Columbia in the shooting death of another Twin Falls man.
Calvert Lee Stanger was sentenced by Justice Douglas Andrews of the British Columbia Supreme Court in Nelson, B.C., after pleading guilty to a charge of manslaughter.
He is accused of killing James Kyle Lash, 56, also Twin Falls, in British Columbia this past May 12. Originally Stanger was charged with murder, but was given an opportunity to plead guilty to the lesser charge.

Reports in Twin Falls indicated Stanger shot and killed Lash in the motor home owned by Lash who had gone to British Columbia for a fishing trip.
Stanger's former wife, the only witness to the shooting, testified the shooting was accidental, officers here reported.
Lash was the former owner of the Military Inn, Twin Falls.

Protest meeting slated

Most of the protesters said the rimland could not be used for agricultural purposes.

E. M. Rayborn, a Twin Falls attorney who owns rimland north of Filer, said the county zoners were "out of line" in calling the strip agricultural.

"Rockhucks would eat up" crops along the rim, Rayborn said.

Keith Robinson, a broker with Twin Falls Realty, produced a 1921 soil survey by the U.S. Department of Agriculture which says the rimland has "no present agricultural value" and consists of "windblown materials."

Robinson also said the esthetic value of the rim might not be preserved if it is zoned agricultural. "Farmers can start raising hogs there," he said. "This would be unsightly, but you cannot build a beautiful home there."

The protesters were also fearful that people would fall off the rim if they gained access to it.

Lynwood Realty plans to erect a 14-foot steel fence along its rim property west of the Perrine Bridge to protect the public, according to Messersmith.

Guest house damaged

A FIRE BROKE out in the guest house of Lloyd Craven at 406 Highland Ave. Tuesday at 12:50 p.m. Apparently caused by a short in an electric blanket, the fire sucked the bed, burned down the door and blackened the walls of the guest house. Two fire trucks responded to the call. The fire was out in about an hour.

TF zoning group to name member

By GEORGE WILEY
Times News-Writer

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City Planning and Zoning Commission will meet Friday to recommend a successor to John Rosholt.

Rosholt, an attorney, resigned from the Planning and Zoning Commission in August, because of an Idaho Bar Association ruling on client disclosure to prevent conflicts of interest.

The zoning commission plans Friday to meet with several candidates for the vacant seat then make its recommendation to the City Council.

Among those under consideration are Twin Falls architect Ed Peterson, landscape architect Max Mueller, real estate broker Dorothy Kolar, teacher Ingrid Slope, and League of Women Voters member Ann Swape. Bank employee Mel Switzer, Jr., is also under consideration. Rosholt submitted Switzer's name in his resignation letter.

At its regular meeting Tuesday night, the Planning and Zoning Commission also named Tom Slater chairman, replacing Rosholt, and designated David Armstrong as vice chairman.

The commission, in regular business, voted to recommend to the City Council.

The annexation of property on Fillmore Street occupied by Harbor House with the designation of a residential-professional zone.

Judge Reed P. Maughan, a member of the board of directors of the temporary foster-home agency, told the commission: "We need police, we need fire protection, we need to be in the City."

A rezoning and conditional use variance be granted for Western Nursery to open and operate a garden store on property at Filer and Park Streets.

Annexation of a strip of Blue Lakes Boulevard North frontage at the site currently occupied by Western Motel and designation of a commercial-local zone to the extended Lincoln Street center line through the property and a designation of residential-low density to the west of the Lincoln-center line.

An ordinance change to allow the erection of a sign on the parking lot side of the old Red Rock Cafe building on South Main. The ordinance change recommended would allow any commercial building to have signs on sides opening on public parking lots.

Annexation and a change in zone designation slightly over nine acres near KMTV television on the east side of Eastland Drive to allow the completion of a mobile home park. The recommended zone designation was residential-medium which would correspond with County zones. The County zoning commission had previously recommended allowing the trailer court, subject to hookup with city water and sewer.

Approval of condominium ownership in all zones, with appropriate conditions, other than in industrial zones.

The condominium ownership recommendation arose from a request by Twin Falls physicians Roy Shaul and H. Thad Scholes to build a three-building medical center on Shoup Avenue West.

The City zoning commission also recommended approval of the preliminary plan of the medical center, which would contain about 20 doctors' offices owned as a condominium.

In other action, the zoning commission welcomed newly-appointed City Councilman Dick Tuinga. Tuinga will replace Mike Gray as the City Council's representative on the zoning commission. Gray resigned earlier this month for business reasons.

Radiating salad oil

HARTFORD (UPI) — Atomic energy experts say that of a number of common substances containing some radiation, salad oil has one of the highest levels: three times the amount of normal radioactivity of milk or whisky and almost 250 times as much as plain tap water. These levels are extremely minute and occur naturally, with no threat to living things.

LONDON (UPI) — The Times of London said today thieves who broke into the offices of the magazine "Games and Puzzles" recently "got away with several thousand pounds in Monopoly money."

Governors sign 'unison' deal

GLENNEN BEACH, Ore. (UPI) — The governors of the four Pacific Northwest Power pool states today prepared to sign a memorandum of agreement to "act in unison" to deal with areas of power shortage.

The agreement was less binding than the four-states compact sought by Oregon Gov. Tom McCall, but McCall acknowledged "this is as far as we can go right now."

The four governors agreed to seek a 10 per cent reduction in energy consumption in each of their states, but each will direct his own methods.

Andrus conceded that he was the major obstacle in a binding contract. He had previously stated his position that Idaho's industry should not be closed down in order to keep industry going in neighboring states.

It was Andrus's insistence that the agreement to act in unison if allocation of energy supplies is needed contain a qualifying statement "to the fullest extent possible." Andrus said his main concern was that Idaho might not agree with the other states on the definition of an energy crisis.

"I'm going to be very provincial" in considering whether Idaho industry should suffer a power cutback for other states, he said.

TF man heads national group

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls resident Earl F. McCullough is the last veteran of the Spanish-American War living in Idaho. He is one of about 1,900 veterans of the 1898 conflict and related skirmishes who survive in the United States.

McCullough was named national commander of the Spanish War veterans at the group's 75th diamond jubilee Encampment Sept. 8 to 13 at the Jung Hotel in New Orleans. He succeeded Elmer G.

Thomas of Salt Lake City. Asked how he plans to conduct his office as national commander, McCullough said simply: "We carry on in our regular, traditional way in the Spanish-American War Veteran's interest."

McCullough enlisted in the U.S. Army in 1901 and was assigned to the 12th Company of the Coast Artillery stationed at Fort Warden, Wash. He served with the 12th until 1904, manning artillery to defend the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

McCullough said he joined the Army too late to engage in any of the "battles of the Spanish-American War," in which only a few hundred men were killed in fighting but in which thousands died of disease.

All army veterans serving prior to World War I are considered Spanish-American War veterans, he said.

McCullough said he tried to enlist for World War I but was not accepted because of disability. He said a chronic case of appendicitis struck him during his earlier Army service.

Born in Hannibal, Mo., in 1880, McCullough came West in 1900. "I wasn't no Twin Falls. I came through Shoshone on the railroad. I was headed for Portland, Oregon. That's where I joined... joined the army."

At 92, the events of McCullough's life have become a little sketchy, even to him. "You try to remember back 75 years," he said at one point.

Once, asked what jobs he had had, he concentrated and then said simply "chew."

But McCullough's mind is sharp. The walls of his house are lined with the books he reads to keep his mind alert: Wells' "Outline of History," Adam Smith's "Wealth of Nations," "War and Peace," "Secret of the Hitlites," "Damon and Pythias."

"Here's one not one in ten will understand," said McCullough, pulling down "Report of the Agricultural Trade Negotiations of the Kennedy Round."

One of McCullough's interests which follows from his army service is military hardware. He spent several minutes in a description of breech and muzzle loading heavy artillery and the construction of exploding shells. "When the planes came in, this kind of artillery became obsolete."

What is it like to have lived through so many technological changes, to have felt the flow of history?

"I don't know... about every 20 years is a change in the way people act socially and in entertainment. About every 20 years something breaks out and you don't know what it is."

What about men on the Moon?

"They've been talking about going to the Moon as far back as I can remember. They didn't have equipment then like they do now to get them to the Moon — and that's about as far as they're going."

JAMES RESTON

The U.S.: Where are we going?

Beef prices

Beef prices failed to take a sharp increase in price in the first few days after the lifting of price controls and industry spokesmen pointed to consumer resistance as the reason.

With artificial controls now lifted, it remains in the power of the consumer to control prices, barring unusual and unpredictable circumstances such as drought, crop failure or loss of beef cattle due to severe weather.

Beef is moving slowly in many areas and feed lot operators who speculated on a quick price rise after the freeze, found themselves with prices far lower than they had anticipated due to consumer reluctance to pay high prices.

We have an idea that beef for the table can be purchased now at lower prices than were in effect at the time of scarce buying which saw stocks of freezers depleted as frantic buyers bought beef as if there never was going to be any more.

The housewife controls the market, all other factors being equal. If she shies away from high priced merchandise, be it meat or foodstuffs, or other commodities, the price will inevitably go down. If she buys at any price, prices will go up.

And there's good news on the horizon for prices to remain reasonable in the future. A bumper corn and grain crop is predicted this harvest. If feed grains are plentiful stockmen can bring cattle to market at lower prices than have prevailed this year, partly because of mass sales of grain to the Soviet Union and to China.

We do not think there is any substance to the worry of beef producers that the American taste for a good steak has been diminished by resort to other protein sources during the period of high prices.

We do hope, however, that the public is aware that there are other foods and will choose wisely if shortages in any particular commodity arise in the future.

(c) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — The 8-year-old children who went into the first grade in America the other day will be 33 at the end of the 20th century, and the assumption is that they will then be ready to meet the problems of a new century in a wholly new world.

But will they be ready? This depends largely on whether they are educated for the world that is coming or for the world that is going, so this is not a remote question for futurists or 21st century planners. In the field of education, the 21st century is now.

For what the 8-year-olds learn between now and then, what view they have of life in that century, what knowledge, skills and attitudes they acquire in the next two decades will obviously determine their capacity for leadership, and certainly influence their personal happiness.

America's record of adapting to change, if we can bring a little, is pretty good. In this country we think we invented change. The frontier compelled it. The immigrants proved it (see Henry Kissinger, the new secretary of state). The old is constantly being driven out by the new, as Billie Jean King demonstrated the other night. Pushy old geezers, like Bobby Riggs, and even lovable old heroes like Willie Mays, go to the wall in the end. It's only in Washington that men seem to stay around beyond their time, and that's not a very good advertisement.

Still, there is a problem. America with its insistence on free public school education, its land grant colleges, its city colleges and its night schools and its adult education courses, finds itself in a race with the pace of change.

It has changed faster perhaps than any other nation in the world. But the physical world, which has been changed by America, is now changing faster than we can change ourselves.

In most of our national life, we probably have time to deal with our problems. In the field of defense, there are important questions about the future, the new weapons systems, what to do about investing in the Trident and where we will be at the end of the seventies if the Soviets go on talking sweet but building missiles that could destroy us and a navy that could blockade us, not around our coast, but at the source of energy in the oil fields of the middle east.

All this is critical. It is very much on the minds of secretary of defense Schlesinger and a secretary of state Kissinger — and there will probably be a Titanic battle between them about how to deal with the Soviets on cutting arms and cutting budgets — but at least the question of military defense for the future is being discussed and debated. Not so the question of education. The balance of power is an active and urgent question in Washington. The balance of minds, the need for an educational defense in the future, is what is being neglected.

Fortunately, there are some thoughtful people in this country who are thinking ahead. Edwin O. Reischauer, for example. He is a professor of history at Harvard, and former United States Ambassador to Japan, and in a new book, "Toward the 21st Century — Education for a Changing World," he revives the question of H. G. Wells raised in the twenties. What are we to do with our lives? How are we to educate for the future rather than for the past?

"We need," he says, "a profound re-shaping of education if mankind is to survive in the sort of world that is fast evolving. This is particularly true of international relations, because the forward rush of technology is fast eliminating the cushioning space that once existed between the diverse nations and cultures of the world."

While the world is becoming a single great global community, it retains attitudes and habits more appropriate to a different technological age. Before long, humanity will face many grave difficulties that can only be solved on a global scale. Education, however, as it is presently conducted in this country, is not moving rapidly enough in the right direction to produce the knowledge about the outside world and the attitudes towards other peoples that may be essential for human survival within a generation or two. This, I feel, is a much greater international problem than the military balance of power that absorbs so much of our attention today."

Reischauer is not arguing against the waterfall of books analyzing the Watergate and other contemporary disasters. He would not doubt applaud a superb study of the American military machine by Stuart H. Loory, formerly of the Los Angeles Times, and now at Ohio State University; but he is more concerned with the tides of history than with the waves on the surface of the Potomac. He has written what he calls "A single sharp bugle call" for the parents of those kids going into the first grade this month, and for teachers and boards of education all over the country, and the hope here is that it gets the attention it deserves.

It is interesting that men like Reischauer and John Kenneth Galbraith, who were attracted away from the scholarly life by President Kennedy and presided over elegant embassies for a time, are now back where they came from in the Universities, thinking and writing about the enduring problems, and probably making a greater contribution to the republic than they did in their official positions.

Galbraith has written a more serious and profound book about the future than Reischauer — "Economics and the Public Purpose." He says it is his third and final study of the American economy, which is silly, because he can no more stop writing, since he does it so well — than Bobby Riggs can stop playing tennis.

But the question is how we can keep these thoughtful glimpses of the future from being overwhelmed by the daily thunderclaps in the news. After all, even President Nixon and Vice President Agnew are fleeing figures, and a good thing too, but Reischauer and Galbraith are talking about the coming world of our children, who are more important than anything else we have.

Troop reduction

The United States and NATO is preparing a plan of bilateral troop reductions in Europe to be presented in October at talks to be held in Vienna with the Warsaw-Moscow powers.

The idea is attractive on the surface. Both the U. S. and the Soviet Union would agree with their allies, to reduce troops in Europe on an agreed schedule and percentage.

It would be a tangible winding down of the tensions that have remained in the "cold" war, since the end of World War II.

Some 20,000 American troops would return in the first phase of the withdrawal and a like number in the following year. Yet the military warns that such a reduction might not have beneficial economic merit, if provisions would have to be made for a massive airlift to Europe, if their return were required. Russia, on the other hand, is within several hundred miles of areas in which troops might be deployed.

If it would have the effect of continuing to create cordiality between the East and the West, as has already begun, it may be worthwhile. However, we should proceed cautiously to retain a strong position in Europe at all costs.

"WELL, SO MUCH FOR TRIAL BALLOONS"

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

The Doctor Says

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My brother developed a cough that came about every 10 or 12 words he spoke. I asked him what happened and he said insects got in his ear. He sprayed it good with one of those insect sprays.

Something happened so he can speak only a few words without coughing. Can you tell me what to do for it? F. K. K.

What you can do for it? Nothing.

But a dead insect may be lying against the ear drum. Or he may have set up irritation with the bug spray.

Irritation of the ear drum from hard wax, hair, bugs or whatnot can cause a rough as reflex mechanism.

Have a physician examine your brother's ear. If the ear is all right, have him look elsewhere for the cause of the cough — but in your case, the ear is the best place to start.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 25 and my problem is my bowels. I'm constipated quite often. I move my bowels every two or three days with the help of prune juice several times a week, but the real trouble is that the movement is so bad that I start to bleed and it hurts quite a bit. Not all the time, but I realize that bleeding may cause piles later in life. I take a laxative once or twice a month which helps for a few days, but then it starts all over again. The bleeding is starting to increase and I'm getting scared. D. D.

It's a little early to be "scared" by it. It is high time to start doing something about the continuing constipation. (Bleeding doesn't cause "piles," or hemorrhoids; it's the other way around. Hemorrhoids can cause bleeding.)

From your letter, I judge that you are relying on prune juice and laxatives. Prune juice, indeed, is about as good a mild laxative (or should I say about as mild a good laxative) as one usually needs. Strong laxatives are likely to irritate and do more harm than good — and since you are experiencing pain and bleeding, you should avoid any unnecessary irritation.

Start by examining your usual diet, and try to determine whether you are drinking enough fluids and getting enough bulk or roughage. These are basic in preventing constipation. The use of one of the bulk producers (agar, etc.) would be effective in softening the stool.

Because of the bleeding, however, I would recommend an examination by your doctor (or by a proctologist) to determine the exact cause.

Unnamed sources

WASHINGTON — One of the big problems a newspaperman in this city has is when he speaks to one unnamed source who contradicts what another unnamed source has told him.

Last week all of us struggled with the dilemma. An unnamed source told the Washington Post that a Vice President of the United States was going to resign. Another unnamed source, when contacted, denied it. The big question that was telling the truth.

The first thing that we had to find out was whether the Post's source was a reliable unnamed source. Since we didn't know the unnamed source's name, this was very difficult to do.

There was speculation among many unnamed people in Washington that the unnamed source The Washington Post quoted about the Vice President's resignation came from an unnamed building at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. If it did, that could give it some authenticity. At the same time, so many unnamed sources in this building have been caught in out-and-out lies, that the very fact that it originated there might force many of us to discount it.

A source close to the Oval Office denied the unnamed source worked there — or at Sam Clemens. But lately he's realized most of the President said he strongly suspected that the story was planted with The Post to force the V. P. to resign.

When I had discussed this information with an official high in government circles who asked not to be quoted, he said that the Vice President in question had discussed resignation with many Republican officials whose names he could not give. The consensus was that while he had discussed resignation with some unnamed sources, he had also discussed remaining in office with others. Therefore, it's quite possible that the source that the Washington Post talked to was telling the truth as far as he knew it.

Anonymous supporters of a former Texas governor who just became a Republican denied that their people were behind the story. "Our man has no desire to be Vice President of the United States," a highly reliable Houston official leaked to me, "and certainly he would keep any of his sources from talking to the press at this time."

A check at the Justice Department revealed that while unnamed Justice Department officials were going ahead with pursuing the charges made against the Vice President, they had no knowledge of the Vice President's future political plans. A highly placed source close to an unidentified attorney general, who formerly was secretary of H&W and defense denied that any leaks about the resignation came from the Justice Department. "We are not the only people in Washington who have unnamed sources."

To make things more confusing, The Washington Post referred to their unnamed source as a "Republican Party leader." Since the Republican Party has no leaders, the feeling among a number of unnamed newspapermen here is that this was a smoke screen to protect The Post's real source, who probably insisted that his identity be disguised.

Whatever the truth of the matter, there is general agreement here that there are many unnamed sources in Washington who are out to get the Vice President.

At one time the V. P. thought they were all in the press. But lately he's realized most of the unnamed sources are members of his own political party.

He also has reason to believe that the Administration is either encouraging the unnamed sources to speak out or at least doing nothing to keep these sources quiet.

Proof of this is that every time someone asks an anonymous White House spokesman where an unnamed President of the United States stands on the Vice President, the spokesman says, not for attribution, "No comment."

PETER LISAGOR

Agnew: A certain mystique

(c) Chicago Daily News
WASHINGTON — "Baro T. Agnew was, that night in Key Biscayne, a man with 'a certain mystique,' one of the 'most underrated political men in America.' Richard M. Nixon, freshly nominated by the GOP Convention, moved among newsmen at a reception, defending his surprise choice of the little-known governor of Maryland as his running mate.

"He has a good heart," Nixon went on about Agnew. "Under pressure, he is one of the best. He's an old-fashioned patriot, highly controlled."

The memory of that cheerful evening, which ended with Mr. Nixon playing the piano for his inebriated guests, has been stained by misfortune. If the quotable ambulance-chasers were still in the White House, they might find something out of the "on-bus incident" to describe Agnew something as colorful and grisly perhaps as John Ehrlichman's phrase about Lee Harvey Oswald: "Let him twist slowly, slowly in the wind."

Through malice or maladroitness, or possibly both, White House spokesmen have nourished the suspicion that President Nixon would like to see Agnew quit, presumably to avoid further scandal. The denials that any of the President's men appear to be leaning on Agnew, though contrived leaks, have a cheesecloth texture. If Agnew's worst enemy has been advising the President on his press policy in dealing with the Baltimore allegations, he could have not come up with anything more damning.

A "no comment" to a story saying Agnew would resign within the week is tantamount, under the highly charged and poisoned circumstances, to saying, "Well, we're going to deny it." During the lurid accounts of White House involvement in Watergate and kindred horrors, the White House press spokesman indignantly denied every published rumormongering the honor of the personnel named. And counter-attacked wrathfully. He was often rehearsed on how to make his denials more artful and, presumably, believable.

With Agnew, it has been conspicuously different. The President has not come forth with reaffirmations of faith in his vice president, as he did in the case of his two fallen colleagues, Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman, whose exonerations he has predicted. This is all the more striking, as Agnew's former press secretary Vic Gold has observed, because the vice president has gone to the barricades in Mr. Nixon's behalf in the Watergate mess, even to the point of reviving the Senate's newest folk hero, Sam Ervin. A little turnabout would be welcomed in the Agnew camp.

Now it could be, as some presidential associates slyly hint, that the President knows more about Agnew's future than outsiders do, and hence is anxious to put a little daylight between himself and the man with that "certain mystique." That knowledge might dictate a certain aloofness, although if "loyalty is the name of the game," the White House might do what it has urged Watergate critics to do, namely presume a man to be innocent until proven guilty.

Not the least of the oddities in this odd precinct is that among Agnew's sympathizers in his hour of trial are some of those "mattering emblems of journalism," and affable enough emblems of journalism on whose beknighted skulls he spent the better part of a term hammering. It is not that they love Agnew more but Mr. Nixon less. The opportunity to lay it on the President is not one to be gladly missed simply because his target may be an old adversary.

As a result of the quiet reactions to Agnew's plight at the White House, the most intriguing game here is to speculate on what the President will do if Agnew is actually forced to resign by events. Some astute politico believe his wisest course would be to name a "non-presidential" vice president, rather than John Connally or Howard Baker or someone else with powerful ambitions to be President in 1976. If he chooses an older statesman with no further ambitions, such as the former Kentucky senator John Sherman Cooper, he would get quick Senate and House approval, as the 25th amendment requires. If, however, he nominates a man on the margin, a bonafide threat to Democratic hopes in '76, then he might run into trouble.

The House and Senate might turn a pecksniffian eye toward a Nixon-anointed "successor," of the Connally stripe. And, of course, it would not be wildly acclaimed by Nelson Rockefeller, Ronald Reagan or Charles Percy, all of whom have covetous designs on the GOP nomination three years hence.

This is admittedly pure conjecture, but it comes from giving Agnew something less than a reassuring world in the midst of his spreading travail.

Skylab astros return

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Doctors said the Skylab 2 astronauts were in surprisingly good shape today with only minor problems. The crew, from a record 59 days in weightless space.

"At the present time, they look better than the first crew," reported Dr. Roger Hawkins, chief astronaut physician in Houston.

Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma more than doubled the duration of the Skylab 1 mission, and Hawkins gave an increased exercise regimen as a possible explanation for the good condition of the Skylab 2 crewmen.

"They're in good shape," Hawkins said after doctors aboard this recovery ship completed a thorough, seven-hour physical examination. He said the agreement were first after a rigorous 24-hour splashdown and planned to sleep late today in horizontal beds for the first time since they left Cape Kennedy July 28.

The New Orleans was expected to reach U.S. waters later today but the astronauts will remain aboard in San Diego, Calif., until the all-important initial physical checks are finished. The pilots are due home in Houston Thursday evening.

The early condition of the astronauts buoyed the hopes of U.S. scientists that the human body adapts to weightlessness without continuous physical deterioration. This would mean that flights of unlimited duration are possible.

President Nixon saluted the three astronauts for providing "a quantum jump in human knowledge."

"By your scientific endeavor and your physical endurance, you have converted a space vehicle into a repository of more scientific knowledge than mankind can immediately consume," he said in a message to the crewmen.

Contract trouble foreseen

DETROIT (UPI) — Officials of the United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. have indicated there may be difficulties in tailoring the contract, ratified by Chrysler Corp. workers to fit the circumstances at the No. 2 automaker.

UAW Vice President Ken Bannan said Tuesday there were "serious problems" at Ford, the second target in this year's contract talks with the big three automakers.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock indicated Tuesday the union must not match the Chrysler contract word-for-word in its agreement at Ford.

"It is not our intention, and we have so told the Ford Motor Co., to enlarge the dimensions of the Chrysler settlement," he said. "But if there is any desire to renege or work differently within the general dimension, obviously that's the business of the Ford Motor Co. and the Ford UAW."

Malcolm Denise, Ford vice president for labor relations, said in the economic area of the Chrysler agreement "there are some things that don't fit very well" at Ford.

Producers guard gas

POINT CLEAR, Ala. (UPI) — The governors of Tennessee, Texas and Oklahoma warned Tuesday their states might refuse to supply fuel to states that are "holding back" on exploration and production operations for environmental reasons.

"Texas will decide who gets Texas gas," said Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

The Texas governor and Gov. Edwin Edwards of Louisiana and David Hall of Oklahoma, whose states provide much of the oil and gas the nation uses, said at the Southern Governors' Conference they might shut off natural gas supplies to other states if exploration and refining are not increased elsewhere.

Plans assure funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Education and Labor Committee Tuesday unanimously approved legislation to regulate private pension plans to assure that workers get benefits due them on retirement.

The right of workers to receive at least part of the money set aside for their pensions when they retire before normal retirement time is called "vesting."

The Senate last week approved a bill requiring 25 per cent vesting after five years on the job, rising to 100 per cent after 15 years.

The House committee version would offer a choice of standards.

For 100 per cent vesting after 10 years, but none earlier.

Thirty per cent after eight years, climbing at 10 per cent a year until 100 per cent after 15 years.

A so-called "rule of 45" When years of work and age add up to 45 there would be 50 per cent vesting, climbing 10 per cent a year until 100 per cent is reached.

The bill is expected to go to the House floor in mid-October.

Postal review urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has asked the Cost of Living Council to take a close look at postal rate increases requested by Postmaster General Finner.

Kennedy wrote the council's director, John T. Dunlop, Tuesday, saying "the proposed increases in postal rates are exorbitant and inflationary on their face."

The Post Office filed formal applications Tuesday to raise the price of a first class stamp 5¢ from 3 cents to a dime, annual fees from 13¢ to 15¢, and other classes of mail from 6¢ to 10¢.

Kennedy told a news conference that the Post Office needed the money not only to cope with "severe inflationary pressure" but to make good on past promises of improved service.

Quints' mom goes home

DENVER (UPI) — Edna Stanek, 34-year-old wife of a junior accountant who gave birth to sextuplets 10 days ago, completed a three-month hospital stay Tuesday. The five surviving children will be released in another month.

Before Mrs. Stanek left the hospital, doctors told her the only child that still needed a respirator was now breathing on his own.

One of the sextuplets died Sept. 18, two days after birth, of hayline meningitis disease. The lung disorder, which prevents an adequate supply of oxygen from reaching the bloodstream, also struck three other infants.

The father, Eugene, 31, allowed photographers to take pictures as he was pushed Mrs. Stanek in a wheel chair to a waiting car, but he would not allow reporters to interview her. He had tried to keep Mrs. Stanek's departure a secret, claiming there had been too much publicity.

Verdict pondered

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The jury began its deliberations today in the pinball bribery trial of District Attorney Jim Garrison and two co-defendants.

Garrison and New Orleans pinball distributors John Arns Gellery and Robert E. Nims are charged with conspiring to protect illegal pinball gambling through bribes.

In his charge to the jury U.S. District Judge Herbert W. Christenberry Tuesday explained the legal technicalities of conspiracy and other laws involved in the case and reminded the jury its verdict would have to be unanimous.

Nader says AEC lied about danger

GLENNEDEN BEACH, Ore. (UPI) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader told the Western Governors' Association that the energy shortage was a result of the concerted action by the major oil companies.

Nader also told the chief executives at their annual conference the Atomic Energy Commission was guilty of lying about the inherent dangers of atomic power plants.

His attack provoked strong reaction from spokesmen for the oil companies and the AEC but left the governors with little direct help in reaching a quick solution to the energy crisis.

Nader accused the oil companies of contriving the present shortage in order to achieve political and economic gains.

"They've built up a political crisis atmosphere to give the industry exactly everything it wants," he said.

The oil company benefits included more offshore drilling, acceptance of the Alaska pipeline, pressure to drive independent dealers out of business and pressure to delay air pollution control standards, he said.

The automobile industry was also scorched by Nader's criticism. He said the automakers have been busy making cars that consume vastly greater quantities of gasoline when they should be doing just the opposite.

AEC Commissioner William Douth disputed Nader's contentions that nuclear power plants lack a sufficient margin of safety and said nuclear energy comes under stiffer regulations and greater precautions than any other power source.

Douth then promised to make all of the information about nuclear power plants in AEC files available to Nader as long as it did not deal with weapons systems. Nader promised to take him up on the offer immediately.

Defending the oil companies, Fred L. Hartley, president of the Union Oil Co., said charges of collusion and price-fixing by the oil industry must be denied completely and totally.

Huge farm bill passed by House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has adopted a massive $9.9 billion appropriations bill to finance farm, environment and consumer programs.

The compromise measure, which is $100 million more than President Nixon requested, was sent to the Senate for final action on a 348-24 vote Tuesday.

It includes a $20,000 per farmer limit on subsidies for wheat, grain and cotton but left untouched present law which allows cotton farmers to sell or lease their acreage allotments.

The House had voted to repeal what Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., earlier called "loop-holes" which permitted big cotton farmers to circumvent the per farmer subsidy limit. The Senate bill maintained the allotment provisions and this prevailed in the House-Senate compromise bill. Conte was not present Tuesday to challenge the compromise.

The measure would also give cotton farmers a new York-based private firm that promotes the sale of cotton products, a $3 million subsidy. The House had voted for no subsidy and the Senate voted to continue the $10 million annual subsidy to cotton. The compromise settled on the $3 million figure and said it could be used only for research and not for advertising or promotion programs.

Included in the compromise measure was $97 million to continue the special school milk program, after the House had voted only the administration's request of $25 million, and $2.5 billion for the food stamp program, $300 million more than the House had approved.

Other provisions in the massive money bill included $2.3 billion for consumer programs, the bulk of the money going to the food stamp program; $1 billion for environmental programs, including $400 million for rural water and sewer grants; and a $304 million for a new rural development program to encourage industries to locate in rural, tax-starved areas.

Defendants line up for Nixon's tapes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Defense lawyers for four defendants accused of bugging the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist want President Nixon's White House tapes, but they will apparently have to get in line behind the Senate Watergate Committee and Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Douglas Dalton, attorney for one of the four defendants, former presidential adviser John Ehrlichman, said Tuesday the defense will attempt to get a court order for the tapes at a hearing Oct. 20.

Ehrlichman, former White House aide Egil Krogh and David Young, and Watergate spymaster G. Gordon Liddy have been charged with burglary for the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. The break-in was allegedly carried out by the White House "plumbers" in search of material to use against Ellsberg, who leaked the Pentagon Papers.

He did not cite any specific information that would help show Ehrlichman's innocence.

McClure spending double Davis

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, spent nearly twice as much as his Democratic opponent, William E. Davis, to win the last election for U. S. Senate, according to Common Cause.

A report, published in Congressional Quarterly, listed McClure's campaign expenditure at $405,788. It said Davis spent $204,878.

This report also shows that McClure collected $416,382 in contributions and Davis took in $222,363.

Magnetic maps

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The Tennessee Division of Geology is preparing a series of Total Intensity Magnetic Maps in cooperation with the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The maps, combined with other geological information, are devised to help in mineral exploration in the state. They show the configuration of variations in the earth's magnetic field, reflecting differences in the content of magnetic minerals in underlying rocks.

Hunt accepts responsibility

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (UPI) — Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., said Tuesday convicted Watergate conspirator F. Howard Hunt's denial provided a touch of novelty to the Senate Watergate Committee hearing.

At the Watergate Committee hearing earlier in the day, Weicker asked Hunt if he were willing to accept responsibility for the activities of the four Cuban-Americans, who participated in the Watergate break-in and were later convicted.

Hunt answered, "Yes sir."

"Mr. Hunt laid out in clear, unmistakable terms that they had every reason to believe theirs was a legitimate operation, but he took full responsibility for it," Weicker told a Connecticut Republican Central Committee hearing.

"That's a first in the Watergate hearing and for that aspect of his candor, my congratulations," Weicker said. "For the first time, someone stepped up to bat and said, 'I was responsible.'"

The Connecticut Republican said he hoped "something other than the jail cell" would be in store for persons like Hunt in the not too distant future.

Guerrillas battle Cambodian troops

PHNOM PENH (UPI) —

Guerrillas battled government troops on three fronts around Phnom Penh today, marking the start of annual ceremonies in the capital to honor the nation's war dead.

The military command reported heavy fighting northeast and northwest of Phnom Penh, but said the worst battle broke out only seven miles south of the city at Dei Kraham on Route 38.

The command said the fighting at Dei Kraham, near the intersection of Highways 2 and 3, began Tuesday night and spilled over into today. Artillery supporting the government soldiers "shook" the capital throughout the night.

The command reported intense fighting at Vihear Spar, 12 miles northeast of the capital. A spokesman said a besieged government garrison at Vihear Spar repulsed a rebel attack Tuesday night, killing two insurgents and wounding five others.

To the northwest, however, government troops were trying to stem insurgent infiltrators heading down Highway 5 toward the capital. The road was just north of the town of Sra Teakra, 27 miles from Phnom Penh. Field reports said rebels had moved down the flanks of the highway and surrounded the town on three sides.

Inside Phnom Penh, Cambodians began celebrating Pchum Ben, a three-day holiday to honor soldiers and civilians slain in the war.

For the past two years, terrorism has broken out on the final day of the festival. In 1971, a bomb exploded at an American Embassy softball game, killing two persons. In 1972, terrorists blew up the city's bridge over the Tonle Sap River.

Military sources said government troops drove an A1 Skyraider fighter-bomber knocked out nine North Vietnamese tanks and a bulldozer Tuesday near the besieged Central Highlands base at Le Minh, 230 miles north of Saigon and eight miles east of the Cambodian border.

California gas stations mobbed

By United Press International

Motorists mobbed the tanks in California Tuesday after filling station operators who had been closed for four days to protest the freeze on gasoline prices re-opened, pronouncing their protest a "tremendous success."

An estimated 9,400 stations from central California to the Oregon state line had been closed.

Dealers in Gary and Hammond, Ind., also ended their shutdown, vowing to wait and see what the government does about allowing them to pass on to the consumer recent penny-a-gallon increases in the wholesale price of gasoline.

If the government permitted only a token increase, a spokesman warned, the dealers could shut down again immediately.

The gasoline Retail Dealers Association of New Hampshire asked all dealers to reopen today after a one-day shutdown. "We're tossing the ball to Gov. Thompson," a spokesman said. "We expect him to go with us to plead our case to the Cost of Living Council in Washington. However, if Washington fails to hear our plea, the shutdown will surely result."

The state auto club said about 45 per cent of the stations in Manchester, New Hampshire's largest city, were closed to protest the price freezes. Some were open for repair only.

A number of dealers who stayed open said they would have closed had everyone agreed on a program of action. The shutdown had originally been scheduled to last three days.

The executive director of the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers said in Little Rock, Ark., that there would be no need for a nationwide shutdown to protest gasoline prices because the prices would run service stations out of business.

"They're going broke," said John M. Haenrich. "You can't continue to lose $60 to $100 a day and stay in business and that's what the average dealer is losing."

WH speechwriter led operation 'dirty tricks'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House speechwriter Patrick J. Buchanan has told the Senate Watergate committee staff he headed a task force on "opposition research," aimed at Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, according to a committee document.

Buchanan, who testified in public today, also joined Dwight L. Chapin, President Nixon's appointments secretary, and Gordon C. Strachan, political liaison for former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman in a "dirty tricks" operation, according to a summary of Buchanan's interviews with the committee staff.

UPI gained access to the summary, which is expected to form the basis for questioning of Buchanan.

Another committee source said Buchanan was author of the strategy that the best way to insure Nixon's 1972 reelection was to destroy the Democratic front runner during the primary election and pre-convention period. At the time, that was Muskie.

"These efforts could force Sen. Edward M. Kennedy to commit himself one way or the other earlier than he otherwise would do," the summary said.

According to the document, Buchanan was assisted on the task force by Ron Kachigian, another presidential speechwriter. It said that the Buchanan-Chapin-Strachan operation was to be patterned after Dick Tuck, a prominent Democratic "dirty trickster."

Kachigian is expected to follow Buchanan to the witness chair as the committee proceeds with its "dirty tricks" phase of its inquiry into 1972 presidential campaign sabotage and espionage.

F. Howard Hunt, the former CIA veteran who pleaded guilty in the bugging of the Democrats' Watergate headquarters, finished two days of testimony Tuesday, saying:

"Alfred C. Baldwin, lookout man during the break-in, may have been a 'double agent,' because he was the nephew of a 'Democratic' judge in Connecticut and claimed also to be the nephew of former Democratic National Chairman John Bailey. But Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., brought out that the judge, Raymond

Baldwin is known as the state's "Mr. Republican," and that Baldwin had cited association with Bailey when casing Democratic offices. Baldwin's lawyer, Robert C. Murto, said the story was "absolutely untrue."

He performed a number of undercover chores for former White House aide Charles W. Colson, including an investigation of the 1969 Chappaquiddick auto accident of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and interviewing ITT lobbyist J. B. Beard.

A Lovelier You

HIPPIES CALL FOR HELP

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovelier writes: My hips gained three inches over the summer. I find I take a larger size. It's my fault. I worked at a desk job and lazed the rest of the time.

Help! The Answer: The mailbox overflows with anguished cries from "hippies." Most of them acknowledge that the problem is self-made and know in their hearts that the cure is exercise plus a bit of dieting.

Here are two good hip-reducers:

1. Lie face down on floor; rest your chin on the back of right hand and extend the left arm at shoulder height. Holding knee taut, fling left leg up as high as possible and then a fraction more; count 10 and slowly return leg to floor. Five repeats. Now reverse arm positions and give right leg the same workout.
2. Stand arm's length from the back of a straight, sturdy chair. Grasp top of chair. Bending from hips, inch backward until back and arms are straight — parallel to floor. Next, lower head forward and draw hips up, keeping knees locked and feet flat on floor. Tense your hips for 5 slow counts. Relax and repeat from scratch 10 times.

About diet: 1200 calories, balanced as to nutrition, per day. Don't cut out any food, just cut down — particularly on the fattening ones and that means fat, oils, sweets and starches.

HIP REDUCING ROUTINES

You can diet until you become leather-tight and still be hip-heavy. Reduction in the hip line is assured only by exercise. For a set of quick and effective ones, send for my leaflet, HIP REDUCING ROUTINES. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents in coin.

The research, based on panel discussions with women of widely varied ages, education and income, also indicated that believed breakfast is the most important meal and the one that most needs nutritional improvement.

Events lead to request

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here is a chronology of events leading up to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's request Tuesday for an investigation by the House of Representatives:

Aug. 1, 1973 — U.S. Attorney for Maryland George Beall informs Agnew's lawyer by letter that the vice president is under investigation in connection with possible bribery, extortion and conspiracy and "invites" him to produce all his financial records by Aug. 9.

Aug. 7 — First detailed news accounts of the investigation appear. Agnew acknowledges it, meets with Nixon, and says "I am innocent of any wrongdoing."

Aug. 8 — Agnew in a press conference denounces accusations as "false, scurrilous and malicious...damned lies." He says his accusers are trying to get themselves off the hook by implicating him.

Aug. 9 — Agnew fails to produce records Beall asked for.

Aug. 14 — Agnew tells Beall by letter he can look at and copy the records in Agnew's office but raises issue of constitutional propriety of any grand jury investigation of the vice president so long as he occupies that office.

Sept. 1 — Agnew meets with Nixon for two hours, both refuse comment, but reports that Agnew resignation was either offered or asked are denied by spokesmen.

Sept. 18 — Washington Post quotes unnamed top Republican leader as saying Agnew "thinking of resigning. White House declines comment on that or whether Nixon still has confidence in Agnew."

Sept. 19 — A group of House Democrats meet on the question of possibly replacing him. Sen. Harry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says he thinks Agnew will resign if indicted.

Sept. 20 — Agnew's lawyers meet with Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson — and assistant Henry Peterson. There are published reports that they offer resignation in exchange for immunity. Richardson reportedly rejects offer.

Sept. 21 — Nixon and Agnew meet for one hour.

Sept. 22 — Agnew is reported establishing a defense fund.

Sept. 25 — Nixon meets successively with Richardson and Peterson, then Agnew. Richardson announces evidence will go to grand jury Thursday. Agnew asks House to investigate.

'Leaks' irk Agnew

WASHINGTON — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's office feels that the United States attorney in Baltimore, George Beall, and his colleagues are continuing to generate "malicious leaks" in the Maryland political corruption investigation.

Sources in Agnew's office said the vice president feels Beall's office is continuing to leak information despite President Nixon's warning that such action would be met with summary dismissal for anyone caught doing so.

The outburst from Agnew's office was triggered by information developed by the Star-News Monday implicating Joel Kline, a multimillionaire Maryland land investor in the Agnew investigation.

Reliable sources told the newspaper that Kline has told federal prosecutors in Baltimore that he has acted as a "conduit" for as much as $100,000 in cash allegedly funneled to Agnew and other Maryland officials.

The aide firmly denied the report that Kline had channeled any money to Agnew, and asserted that there seems to be a pattern of malicious leaks intended to damage the vice president without allowing him the judicial process.

Agnew reaches

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, reached back 150 years for one of two precedents to support his request Tuesday for a House investigation of charges involving him.

In his letter to House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., Agnew cited an 1826 demand by Vice President John C. Calhoun of South Carolina for an investigation of charges he had illegally profited from an Army contract signed while he was secretary of war.

The House established a select committee to investigate the charges against Calhoun, and he was exonerated on Feb. 13, 1827. Agnew said the Calhoun case supports his claim that "the Constitution bars a criminal proceeding of any kind federal, state, county or town against a president or vice president while he holds office."

Agnew quoted at length from Calhoun's letter to the House, which said that when public attacks on his integrity assumed the character of impeachable offenses, and become in some degree official by being placed among the public records, an officer thus assaulted "can look for refuge only to the Hall of the Immediate Representatives of the People."

15 die, 23 hurt

SYDNEY (UPI) — At least 15 elderly persons were killed and 23 seriously injured today when a tourist bus plunged into the Tumut Ponds Dam in snow-covered mountains about 300 miles southwest of Sydney, police said.

A spokesman for the Adaminaby police station a few miles from Tumut said the accident occurred as the bus, carrying old age pensioners on a sight-seeing expedition from Adelaide, was climbing a steep pass from the dam wall.

George Stewart, a nearby resident who was one of the first to arrive at the crash site, said the bus had suddenly stopped, then slipped backward over the dam wall and plunged over it into about 200 feet of water.

It was not known how many passengers were aboard the bus.

Thick fog and cold, wet conditions were hampering rescue operations. Stewart said.

Father seeks custody

TWIN FALLS—A Twin Falls father has appealed a court order taking his eight minor children from his custody. An appeal was filed in Fifth Judicial District Court by James Fetterly to the court order signed by Magistrate Judge Daniel Mechl taking his eight minor children under the Child Protective Act, and placing them in foster homes. Fetterly seeks the return of the eight minor children. He also has one son over 18 years of age. Magistrate Court Judge Mechl signed the order July 11 placing the children in the guardianship of the Department of Environmental and Community Services on grounds Fetterly and his wife were unable to properly care for the children and to provide them with a proper home. County officers arrested the parents last fall and charged them with trespassing when the family failed to vacate a camp site in which they were living along Rock Creek Canyon south of Hansen and on private property. At that time the children were placed in custody of Harbor House and with foster parents, pending court action. Affidavits accompanying the appeal state Fetterly felt his wife was incapable of providing a proper home and they have separated and he is anxious to have his children returned to his custody. The children range in age from 4 to 18 years.

Land use film available

BOISE (UPI)—The State Planning and Community Affairs Agency today unveiled a 20-minute film on land use planning ideas and policies for Idaho. Produced locally at a cost of about $1,000 in federal funds, the film examines three goals to preserve the quality of life in Idaho: Protection of the land base that supports Idaho's agriculture, forest and mining industries. Preservation of a high quality environment for Idaho citizens and visitors. Encouragement of pleasant, attractive and efficient Idaho communities. In examining these goals, the film delves into 14 proposed policy decisions for the state and asks for public reaction to them.

Planning Director Glen Nichols said his agency is developing a questionnaire to be used in connection with the film and hopes to obtain considerable public input from it. Among the proposed policies discussed in the film are adoption of a state erosion and sediment control law to curb excess erosion from public and private lands.

Others include encouraging protection of key sites for future development; proof in advance by developers that state air and water utility standards will be met; encouragement of continued production on lands suited for food, timber of minerals, and encouragement of orderly process of land use change to meet needs of the land and supply proper lands for growth.

TF aide deplores deletion

TWIN FALLS—Twin Falls City Manager Jean Milar Tuesday expressed disappointment that a proposed joint county-municipal planning board had been deleted from the final version of the new county zoning ordinance.

However, Milar said an agreement by the county to consult Twin Falls and other cities in the county on proposed developments on lands adjacent to cities was a big step in the right direction.

"We've already gained so much that we can't ask for too much," Milar said.

As proposed in earlier drafts of the county's new zoning ordinance, a joint board composed of a county representative, a member of the Twin Falls Highway District and representatives from Twin Falls and other municipalities would have had a veto power over developments in certain designated areas adjacent to municipal boundaries.

County zoning chairman J. James Koutnik said the proposed joint board was deleted from the county ordinance because the county zoning commission "didn't want to relinquish control and an essential veto power to this joint board. This would have taken it (planning and zoning) out of their control and given it to a board which would only have had one member from the County Zoning Commission."

Koutnik said a secondary consideration had been whether or not the joint board, as a non-elective body, could have made legally binding decisions on planning and proposed developments.

Koutnik said he thought the final draft of the proposed county ordinance was a good one.

He said the county had agreed to follow city zone designations on lands adjacent to the city to provide continuity in annexation.

The county will also consult the municipalities on developments proposed adjacent to city lands, Koutnik said.

Woman listed 'fair'

TWIN FALLS—Mrs. Robert (Pam) Norvell, 19, Shoshone, is listed in fair condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital today. She was injured Monday morning when her vehicle collided with a Union Pacific train in Shoshone.

Filer HS reopens

FILER—The Filer High School reopened today after a one-day closing Tuesday because of furnace problems. Superintendent Irvy Baker said the problems developed with the furnace Monday, but school remained open Tuesday. He said officials decided the school building would be too costly to permit school, so students were given the day off. The repairs were completed in time for school this morning.

Brandt asks power balance

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, in the first address to the United Nations General Assembly by the head of a German government, today called for a "state of everyday peace" in a world which would be balanced by the participation of Japan, China and Europe. West Germany was admitted to the United Nations only a week ago, along with East Germany.

Kissinger plans Mid-East peace

LONDON (UPI)—The Times of London said today U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has put forward a Middle East peace plan that has been accepted as a basis for discussion by King Faisal of Saudi Arabia. The front-page story was signed by Louis Heren, deputy editor of the Times. It said the report was based on "reliable reports from the Middle East." The Times' New York correspondent quoted State Department spokesman Robert McCloskey as denying the report. The plan, according to the Times, contained these points: —Israel to make a partial withdrawal from the Suez Canal, giving up control of both banks to Egypt. —Sharm-el-Sheikh to be ruled jointly by Egypt and Israel under a condominium plan. —An area of the Sinai peninsula, to be determined, also to be a condominium. —Jerusalem to remain part of Israel but Christian and Moslem holy places and privileges to be administered and protected by the Vatican and Jordan, respectively. —The West Bank to be returned to Jordan but new Israeli settlements to remain. —Israel to withdraw from parts of the Golan Heights. The Times said it was understood the plan was discussed at the recent summit meeting of Egypt, Syria and Jordan. "Its attraction, at least for King Faisal, is that the reputation and influence of Dr. Kissinger are such that the Israeli government will be required to negotiate," The Times said.

Speech boycotting halts meet

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI)—Politics upstaged finance at a world monetary conference today when Black African and Arab countries took turns boycotting speeches by South African and Israeli delegates.

U.S. Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz was one of the few delegates present in the cavernous, near-empty conference hall through the whole session.

Most members of the 41-nation Organization of African Unity (OAU) failed to appear in the wood-paneled hall where South African Finance Minister Nico Diederichs opened today's session of the annual International Monetary Fund (IMF) meeting.

Later, Arab delegations repeated the process, shifting out of the modern hall when Israeli delegate Moshe Sarfari rose to speak.

Black African members of the OAU said they were protesting white-ruled South Africa's racial policies.

Officials said it was the first time delegates had ever used

IMF meetings for a political protest against member countries. Some IMF officials expressed regret at the incident.

"It set a precedent," said one. "Now everyone could start using the meetings to spotlight their own particular causes."

Some OAU delegates, including Kenya and Tanzania, made a point of being present at the start of the meeting and then walked out as Diederichs mounted the podium. The Kenyan delegate angrily waved a fly swatter as he stormed from the hall of the new Kenyatta Conference Center.

Malawi and Swaziland, which both have ties with South Africa, ordered their delegates to stay in their seats for Diederichs' speech. So did Syria and Jordan, but they walked out when Sarfari rose to speak.

Kenyan Finance Minister Mwai Kibaki, the conference host, said, "Africans wanted to demonstrate their total rejection of apartheid."

Dam to protect loss of fish

AMERICAN FALLS—Fish losses will be kept to a minimum when the American Falls Dam and powerhouse are replaced, officials promised Tuesday.

Moves to protect fish in the dam forebay and the river below the dam were pledged at a meeting of the Joint Bridge Coordinating Committee of the American Falls Dam.

The first step, to investigate what can be done to hold down fish losses, is being carried out by at least two committees.

State Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, R-Tuttle, chairman of the joint committee, said the fishery will not be ignored in planning for replacement of the dam and powerhouse.

"The question is what can physically be done at the dam and this is being investigated," he said. "As a result, facilities will be included in the project to mitigate fish losses to the fullest extent physically and financially possible."

Joe Allen, American Falls, chairman of the American Falls Area Bridge Committee, said residents in his area are interested in preserving the fishery. Allen said his group will work closely with water users in finding "an acceptable solution to the problem."

Tom Nelson, Twin Falls, chairman of the wateruser's section of the committee, said the sparcublers' executive committee has authorized a fisheries study committee to learn if recognized experts are available to assist in investigating and solving the problem.

Others at the meeting were Cecil Hobday, Gooding; Ted Diehl, Jerome; Charles J. Marshall, Jerome; Ben Caviness, American Falls; Kay Hansen, American Falls; Rep. Ralph Wheeler, R-American Falls; Jim Chapman, American Falls; Russ Holm, Shelley; Leonard Graham, Rigby; and Virginia Temple, Rupert.

Real horsepower

SHOSHONE—Horsepower may be an economy device, but it still lacks "something" for commuting to and from work, Kenneth Peak, nephew of Roy Peak, Shoshone, said.

Peak recently took up a dare by fellow workers in Longview, Wash., to ride his mule to work due to high prices.

He had attached signs to the mule's pack which read "grass is cheaper than gas" and "down with fuel, get a mule."

He rode the animal the nine miles to his job, taking three hours for the trip, and was pictured in a Longview newspaper on the downtown streets there.

Consumer agency named in suit

BOISE (UPI)—A Boise couple has filed a $400,000 suit in federal court here claiming a consumer reporting agency was partially responsible for them not getting accident and health insurance.

John J. Pontier, and his wife, Bonnie, say they suffered injuries in an accident that would have been paid by the insurance. Pontier filed the suit against the Retail Credit Co. The firm is incorporated in Georgia and is qualified to do business in Idaho.

The suit claims the couple applied for insurance with the Woodman Accident and Life Co., Lincoln, Neb., for personal insurance.

The suit said a report was submitted to the insurance company by retail credit which "contained willfully false, inaccurate, obsolete and defamatory allegations" against the couple.

Emergency use urged on DDT

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said Tuesday night he wants the government to permit emergency use of the banned pesticide DDT in Pacific Northwest forests this fall if there are renewed attacks by the lysoack moth.

Butz, who recently toured forests in the area, told the Society of American Foresters he was "shocked by the devastation" he saw.

"The flying forests there are reminders that we were a little precipitous in banning the only effective control method before we had found effective substitutes," Butz said.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) last summer rejected appeals by the Forest Service to use DDT against the moths in Washington and Oregon, but Butz indicated a new request may be forthcoming.

"I am ready to lend my full support in seeking approval from the EPA for making DDT available in the event we need it," Butz said. "The incidence of virus and parasites, which will be determined this fall and winter, will tell us if the DDT is necessary. We should be prepared if the need is obvious."

Judge to resign

REXBURG (UPI)—The Seventh District Magistrate's Commission formally will consider the resignation of Magistrate William Puette of Salmon at a meeting in Rexburg next Monday.

Willard C. Burton, senior judge of the district, said the meeting will get under way at 3:30 p.m. in his chambers at the Madison County Courthouse.

House rejects action on Agnew probe request

Agnew, in his letter, read on the House floor Tuesday, contended that the Constitution requires that he be impeached before any court action can be taken against him.

He predicted that a House investigation would vindicate him of any charges of wrongdoing as a county executive and Maryland governor before he became vice president.

He signaled that he would file suit to prevent the Baltimore grand jury from hearing evidence against him. Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson announced shortly before Agnew visited Albert's late Tuesday afternoon that the grand jury would begin hearing evidence against Agnew Thursday.

One of the vice president's lawyers, Judah Best, said this morning he did not plan a legal move today to try to block the grand jury. But the action was expected shortly.

Albert said after Agnew had delivered his letter Tuesday that the full House would decide the request. The speaker told newsmen: "Nothing has been ruled in; nothing has been ruled out."

However, House Democratic floor leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., of Massachusetts, said he personally felt "we do not have an obligation to make an inquiry on his behalf."

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., chairman of the House Republican Conference, third in rank among minority GOP members, expressed doubt the House would agree to Agnew's request.

"I can't believe they (the Democrats) are going to go along with it," he said. "They won't bail the vice president out of his predicament."

House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford, of Michigan, urged that Agnew's proposal be adopted.

The Agnew request, in the form of a letter read to the House with only about 50 members in attendance, came minutes after Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson said the government will present evidence concerning Agnew to a grand jury in Baltimore Thursday.

The panel is investigating alleged political kickbacks to Maryland officials.

Agnew, a former Baltimore county executive and Maryland governor, was formally notified Aug. 1 he was under investigation by the U.S. Attorney's office in connection with possible extortion, bribery and conspiracy.

Agnew met with Nixon only a few hours before going to the Capitol for a meeting with House Democratic and Republican leaders, at which he presented his letter. Nixon later said the decision to seek the House inquiry was discussed between them, and he called on Americans to accord Agnew the "presumption of innocence which is the right of any citizen."

The House can, on its own or by request, conduct an inquiry into the behavior of a sitting federal official from a president on down. Any member can also introduce an impeachment resolution, and thus any House inquiry could involve consideration of impeachment.

Agnew relied on a precedent set in 1827, when the House held an investigation on request of Vice President John C. Calhoun, who was accused of wrongdoing when he served as secretary of war. A select committee investigated the charges and exonerated Calhoun.

"I am confident that, like Vice President Calhoun, I shall be vindicated by the House," Agnew's letter said.

Colorado water 'hot'

DENVER (UPI) — The radioactive tritium seeping into the Broomfield drinking water supply came from two sites at the Rocky Flats nuclear weapons plant, according to Colorado Health officials.

But a Rocky Flats spokesman Monday said Dow Chemical Co., which operates the facility for the Atomic Energy Commission, isn't certain they were to blame for the contamination of the Great Western Reservoir.

"We do not at this time have sufficient evidence to allow us to be as conclusive as the health department in identifying the problem area," a spokesman said.

"This is not to suggest that we question the Health Department conclusions, but we would prefer to continue to gather samples both on and off the plant prior to making a statement about conclusions."

Department radiological officer Robert Siek said the radioactive hydrogen came from one of the buildings on the Rocky Flats grounds and from a landfill serving as a burial ground for radioactive materials.

"Water supplies taken near building 771 contained 102,440 picocuries of tritium per liter and samples taken in the drainage from a sanitary landfill north of the plant proper averaged 33,000," said Siek.

"The normal background level of tritium for the state averaged 1,200 picocuries per liter," he said.

The presence of tritium in the Great Western Reservoir outside Broomfield was announced last week by Gov. John D. Funderburk. Both he and Siek said the levels of tritium in the water were not hazardous.

State officials said when making the announcement that the radioactive matter reached the reservoir from Walnut Creek, a stream running across Rocky Flats land.

Rocky Flats is operated by Dow Chemical Co., for the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

Last Saturday, one supermarket in Broomfield reported that its supplies of bottled drinking water was sold out. A health physicist who collected urine samples from volunteers to check tritium levels said residents were worried.

"The people I've talked to asked a lot of questions," said James Montgomery. "They want straight answers. They don't want a bunch of running around the bush."

Dale Whisenant, assistant Broomfield city manager, said local officials were worried about the contamination and had started planning to guarantee it would not be repeated.

"There is no question we're going to go into the situation and get it stopped," he said.

VERNAL, Utah (UPI) — A federal mining official said Monday that an oil shale leasing program could be implemented in Utah by early 1974.

John B. Rigg, deputy assistant secretary of Mineral Resources in the Department of Interior, told a seminar called by Sen. Frank E. Moss that the first shale leases would go to Colorado, followed by Utah and then Wyoming.

The Interior Department received a six-volume environmental impact study last month on oil shale development in the three states and is considering implementation of a pilot program involving two sites in each state.

"Colorado will get the first oil shale leases, once the government decides on the program—implementation, probably 30 days after the program is announced," Rigg said.

Moss, D-Utah, called the fact-finding seminar to answer questions concerning the environmental and economic impact of oil shale development.

Representatives of several Indian tribes, whose reservation lands hold some of the largest shale deposits, testified at the meeting.

"Care should be taken to

Utah leasing program aired acid extremes to satisfy men's needs and prevent damage to the great gift of nature," said Honey Seckuku, chairman of the Uintah-Ute Tribal Business Council.

It suggested that Congress solicit Indian views before forming development policy.

"The Ute Indian Tribe is awaiting for a government decision on implementation before establishing a leasing committee," said Mrs. Adelyn Logan, rents officer for the Bureau of Indian Affairs at Fort-Lyon.

The Utes hold mineral rights to more than two million acres believed to hold shale deposits. She said mineral leases on Indian lands will be limited to 2,560 acres, but that several leases could be acquired.

Moss said the proposed prototype development in the three states would create 13,000 new jobs and $190 million a year in tax revenues, but could also result in significant environmental degradations.

"Hopefully, by offering public-tracts for lease, private enterprise will be stimulated to seek and develop oil shale interests to the extent that production goals reach 600,000 barrels per day in the tri-state area by the mid-1980s," Moss said.

Answer sought

BOISE (UPI) — A federal judge has ordered State Director of Corrections Raymond May to show in writing that rights of five prisoners in the Idaho Penitentiary are not being violated.

U.S. District Judge Ray McNichols gave May until Sept. 27 to answer habeas corpus petitions filed by prisoners Alfred Floyd-Mellinger, John Lawrence Sadler, Gary Russell Ansbaugh, Ralph A. Crawford and Donald Dabson.

The prisoners allege they are being held unconstitutionally and are being held separately. They also allege privileges were revoked without an opportunity to hear the charges or answer them.

Allende's widow charges CIA

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — The widow of Chilean President Salvador Allende has accused the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency of forging Chilean banknotes to fuel inflation in Chile.

"I want to accuse directly the Central Intelligence Agency, the firm—ITT, the American copper companies and the American State Department," Hortensia Allende said in an interview with the West German magazine Stern. The interview was given by Mrs. Allende in Mexico City where she was granted political asylum.

"They never allowed him to govern the land in peace for a single day," Mrs. Allende told the magazine.

The interviewer asked whether she believed the Americans were directly involved in her husband's overthrow.

"Yes," she replied. "There was operation Centaur, but I heard about it only after the putsch." Thus, for example, Chilean banknotes were forged in the United States and then put into circulation in Chile, our country was literally flooded with them. They were supposed to fuel the inflation," Stern also published an interview with Hugo Vignorena, former Chilean ambassador to Mexico.

A rebel commando squad infiltrated the capital's outer city limits early Tuesday and rocketed one of the city's two electrical plants. The attack wounded three persons and damaged one of the plant's three generators, leaving southern sections of the capital with no power.

Rematch between Frazier, Ali expected in New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — The long-awaited rematch between former heavyweight champions Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier is very close to being made, United Press International learned today.

"We are satisfied with the terms," said Bob Arum, Ali's attorney.

"Now it's up to them to agree. Why they are not in New York pounding on the desk and negotiating, I don't know. But really, Cloverly (the corporation that backs Frazier) doesn't make the final decision. The man who steps in the ring has to say yes."

The rematch, if made, would be held in Madison Square Garden, the site of the first fight in which Frazier defended his title on a grueling 15-round decision. Jack Kent Cooke, who had the rights to the first match, also will be the controlling figure in the rematch.

The Garden, Cooke, and attorneys for both fighters have been haggling over the contracts for several weeks. A source New York state tax title has been one of the major drawbacks in the negotiations.

"If they don't agree by the middle of next week," said Arum, "then it will be hard to sign any contracts with Muhammad. He'll be in Jakarta."

There are, however, positive signs that an agreement will be reached in the next few days. Ali has shortened his trip and will return to the states sooner than planned in order to begin training.

Eddie Futch, who manages Ken Norton, the man who defeated Ali and then lost a return on Sept. 10, flew from the west coast to Philadelphia last week to talk with Frazier about taking over the fight. Yank Duran, Frazier's former manager who died earlier this month, Futch has worked in Frazier's corner for most of his fights.

Sam Solomon, manager and trainer of Ernie Terrell was also talking with Cloverly and Frazier about working with Joe.

In any case, Frazier was in the gym Tuesday and that fact alone indicates that he'll be fighting soon.

ISU barriers win by ring

LOCATELLO — An Idaho State cross-country team that Coach Bob Beeten refers to not very convincingly as "well-balanced," will host Montana State on Saturday. The match starts at 3 p.m. on ISU's Red Hill course.

The Bengals ended Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo's 2-year undefeated streak 26-29 last weekend.

"The only way these guys are well-balanced is that they all weigh the same," says Beeten. "I have the flakiest team in the United States. John Brooks (who finished eighth against Cal Poly) said that during the race he was trying to figure the probability of all seven of our runners finishing. I was trying to figure that out myself since we went there prepared for a six-mile race and they made it seven miles without consulting us."

Brooks is a Math major.

Then Bud Couture, ninth against Cal Poly, who is a Business major, told me he didn't want to run seven miles again because there is too much efficiency wasted in a long race. And Bob Guerin, a Psychology major, told me our entire team needed analysis. He's right."

"The rest of our team majors in Education. They said that there is a serious problem in motivation in keeping the human mind intact during a seven-mile race."

Vaught leaves ranch to help Rebels regain football sparkle

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — Silver-haired Johnny Vaught, trading in his gentleman's hat and returning to the game he loves, pledged Tuesday to do his best to rejuvenate the faltering Mississippi football program—but he said he'd need help.

Vaught, 63, who had guided the Ole Miss Rebels to national gridiron glory over the past quarter century, was reinstated as head football coach and athletic director in a major shakeup which saw the ouster of both coach Billy Kinard and his brother, athletic director Frank "Bruiser" Kinard.

Dr. Porter Fortune, chancellor of the University of Mississippi, said Bruiser Kinard had been offered another post at the university. He said the remainder of Billy Kinard's contract would be honored.

Fortune said the younger Kinard, who succeeded Vaught in 1971, was getting "about $28,000 per year" and his contract had three more years to go after the present season.

Vaught, who owns a large beef cattle ranch near the campus, stepped aside as head coach after he suffered a mild heart attack during the 1972 season.

He directed the Rebels for 24 years, piling up a record of 185 victories against 59 losses and 12 ties to become one of the nation's most successful collegiate coaches. His teams appeared in 18 major post-season bowl games.

"This is a rather unique day for me," Vaught said. "I have been away from athletics for two and a half years, and I have missed every minute of it. I would not have considered this except that I love Ole Miss and the people of Mississippi."

Pressed about reports that the team had not been playing hard under Kinard, Vaught said, "we'll get a little more (effort) than I have seen."

But he added: "I want to tell you that this is a tough job. I can't do this by myself. I want everybody in the state of Mississippi—players, parents, alumni and fans—to support our program."

Kinard's first team compiled a 9-2 record in 1971 and shipped Georgia Tech in the Peach Bowl. But the Rebels wound up with a disappointing 5-5 last year and have gotten off to a lackluster start this fall.

Vaught said he planned to remain in the post until the remainder of the current season plus two more years. The Rebels will host Southern Mississippi Saturday afternoon in their first on-campus game of the 1973 campaign.

Howe scores in first 21 seconds

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pablo Garcia's single made his return to competitive hockey Tuesday night in a debut with his two sons and required only 21 seconds to score a goal during an exhibition game.

The 45-year-old Howe, who "fired" from the Detroit Red Wings two years ago as the National Hockey League's all-time top scorer, made his first appearance as a member of the Houston Aeros in Madison Square Garden during a four-team World Hockey Association exhibition.

New Chilean chiefs won't host games

SANTIAGO (UPI) — The Chilean Sports Administration, at the request of the military junta which overthrew President Salvador Allende earlier this month, Tuesday called off the Pan-American games, scheduled for Santiago in 1976.

The future of the event, held every four years preceding the Olympic Games and in which all Western Hemisphere countries participate, was not immediately clear.

Presumably, if Chile bows out, the Pan American Sports Organization, which sponsors the event, could name a substitute host nation, if one could be found. San Juan, Puerto Rico, reportedly is interested.

Chile also canceled the South American Track and Field Championships, an armed forces, Marxism-inspired tournament and a Western Hemisphere air show, all scheduled for October in Santiago.

Brewers topple Yanks in 13th

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Pedro Garcia's single with one out in the 13th inning scored Wilbur Howard with the winning run to give the Milwaukee Brewers a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees Tuesday night.

The game was tied 2-2 when Howard led off the 13th inning with a single off Lindy McDaniel, moved to second on a sacrifice by Tim Johnson and scored on Garcia's single to left center.

Morton not naive enough to know Staubach is still No. 1

DALLAS (UPI) — For a brief moment Monday night a feeling of panic ran through the Dallas Cowboys faithful at Texas Stadium.

There, lying in a heap on the artificial surface, was Roger Staubach. And he wasn't moving.

A minute later, however, Staubach was up and wobbling toward the sidelines in a mild daze. He had simply taken a hard shot on the helmet.

Ernie Morton, who two weeks ago asked coach Tom Landry to trade him if at all possible because Staubach had been selected as the club's No. 1 quarterback, trotted into action and performed almost perfectly.

Morton, however, carried no false hopes that he would be starting next Sunday when Dallas and St. Louis meet for the leadership of the NFC East.

"I'm sure Coach Landry will go back to Roger," said Morton, who completed five of seven passes for 73 yards and a touchdown in slightly more than one quarter of action.

"Of course I want to play. That's the object of my being here and I'm going to be here so I might as well help the team whenever possible."

"I thought I called the plays very well during the game (a 10-3 win over New Orleans). I would think he would probably call the plays against St. Louis as well."

"When Roger went out Craig came on to have an almost flawless performance. You won't see a better play than the pass he threw to Mike Montgomery for a touchdown."

"On that play Morton lofted a soft pass which Montgomery caught in the corner of the end zone for a seven-yard touchdown."

"If you make six or seven games you might get rusty," said Morton. "But a game or two should not make much difference. You have preseason and all of that training camp so a week off should not hurt you."

Anderson to devote full time to playoff

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Sparky Anderson, who has guided the Cincinnati Reds to three division titles in his four years of managing the club, went to work full-time Tuesday plotting strategy for the National League playoffs.

Anderson has been thinking ahead to the playoffs ever since taking a sizable lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League West a couple of weeks ago. But not until the Reds clinched the division title with a 2-1 victory over San Diego Monday night could Anderson put the regular season out of his mind and concentrate only on the playoffs.

The Reds meet the National League East champions, probably either the New York Mets or Pittsburgh Pirates, in a best of five game series beginning here Saturday Oct. 6. The second game also will be played here with the rest of the games scheduled at the home of the eastern division winner.

Playoff games here will begin at 4 p.m. and Anderson says a late afternoon starting time at Riverfront Stadium calls for some special strategy.

"Times it happens to be an overcast day, the sun at that hour probably will produce a low-scoring, close ball game," Anderson figures. "The combination of sun and shadows at that time is murder on a batter. He just can't pick the ball up like he can earlier in the day or at night. I'm going into those games counting on one or two runs, probably deciding it."

JANE ARMSTRONG Consulting Home Economist for Buttrey Food Stores.

Did you know that the kitchen is the most hazardous room in the entire house? It's true—accidents happen here!

Injuries can range from knife cuts and hot pan burns to falls on newly waxed floors. True, some homemakers are more accident-prone than others. However, studies of women at work in a kitchen show many accidents are due to unsafe, unsanitary work habits. Failing to wipe up spills immediately, not using a pot holder, neglecting to check an appliance setting can all lead to accidents.

But you can help keep these kitchen accident statistics down if you develop a preventive attitude when working in the kitchen. Here are some safety tips to keep in mind:

- Keep all household cleaning agents away from children (chemical burns can be very serious).
- Never mix two or more cleaning products unless the manufacturer recommends it.
- Label all cleaning compounds.
- Throw away cracked or chipped dishes and glassware.
- When using a knife, slice foods in a direction away from yourself.
- Chop vegetables on a cutting board.
- Store knives carefully.
- Turn pot handles in, away from children, but not over lighted burners.
- Keep all flammable materials away from food that's cooking or baking. Pot holders, curtains, hair, etc., will ignite quickly if they come in contact with a gas flame or hot electric unit.
- Keep cords out of the way to avoid snagging, tripping or jerking.

Ryan guns for major league strikeout mark

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eight years ago a lanky southpaw named Sandy Koufax struck out 382 batters in 1965, a record that stands today. Koufax, who pitched for the Los Angeles Dodgers on Sept. 25, 1965, a lanky right-hander named Nolan Ryan will attempt to surpass the strikeout record that season by Sandy.

Koufax struck out 382 batters in 1965 while winning 26 games and leading the Dodgers into the World Series.

Ryan finds himself in an entirely different situation with the Angels, a team already eliminated from the American League West title. Ryan became a 20-game winner for the first time in his career on Sunday by beating the Minnesota Twins, but he has lost 16 games as well. Yet, Ryan pitches with blazing speed, maybe even faster than Koufax himself, and his strikeout total this season is evidence of that. He has whiffed 367 batters, just 15 shy of Koufax's mark. And he has also pitched two no-hitters this year.

If Ryan doesn't get his 15 or 16 strikeouts against Minnesota Thursday he'll probably come back on Sunday with just two days rest.

While Ryan lumbers up his mighty arm preparing for his

Hayes puts TCU on notice for next tilt

CHICAGO (UPI) — Woody Hayes, Tuesday, sounded an ominous note for the next rival of his No. 3 ranked Ohio State football team, Texas Christian University, in the Buckeyes' gigantic stadium Saturday.

"I've always felt that a week off hurt us," Hayes told football writers in a telephone interview, "but we've tried to get an early start for this game. We should be in good physical condition and have a real good game plan."

"But Duffy Daugherty always said a team's biggest improvement is between the first and second games, and I'd rather have it the other way around."

The Buckeyes slaughtered Minnesota in the opening game, 36-7, and then had a week off because they play only 10 games instead of the usual 11. Thus Hayes said his team started preparing for the Horned Frogs five days early.

"We've got to pass more," he said, "an unusual statement from a coach famed for his emphasis on the running game."

"We've got to have that extended arm of the passing to complement our running game."

Yet, he said he would start sophomore quarterback Cornelius Greene instead of senior Greg Hare against TCU, partly because Hare is not completely healed from an earlier injury. Also, Hayes said, Greene "was our starting quarterback the first game and he deserves to start again."

"Hare is a better passer, but he's had two more years at it, and there's no question Greene is a better runner."

Hayes said TCU could be the best team in the Southwest Conference. Although he has been accused of discounting non-conference games, he said this time Ohio State will be playing all out.

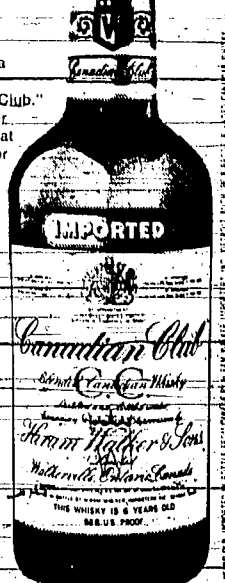

"Texas Christian is pretty much running," he said, "and they're pretty good passing. They have explosive backs and a real big line. After all they scored 49 points in their first game."

Aaron feels tying record is possible, beating it difficult

ATLANTA (UPI) — Hank Aaron thinks he can hit the two home runs he needs to tie Babe Ruth's career record in the Atlanta Braves' four remaining games but breaking that record this year "may be asking too much."

The 39-year-old Aaron has 712 homers, 39 this season. Ruth's record is 714.

"I still feel I have a chance," Aaron said Tuesday night after going hitless in the Braves' 5-1 loss to Los Angeles.

"I feel I can still hit two home runs in the four games we have left, but 715," Aaron mused, "it's going to be tough to hit three home runs in four days. The only way I could do it would be to hit two in one game. No, my chances of hitting three home runs doesn't look very good."

Aaron was 0-for-4 against Dodger right-hander Don Sutton Tuesday night. But he came mighty close in the seventh inning when he drove centerfielder Willie Davis near the 402-foot marker with a low liner.

"That was the first really good pitch Sutton gave me to hit," said Aaron. "It was a low fast ball, but I was guessing high-ball and I just got my bat half way round, then stopped. For some reason, I didn't hit the ball like I usually do. I didn't follow through. I was surprised it carried as far as it did."

Sutton "thought it was gone. I said to myself, 'there's 713. It was the best pitch I gave him to hit'."

Sutton wanted one point perfectly clear. If Hank Aaron expected to lay the ball in there, then he had the wrong guy. The thing is, Hank Aaron doesn't need anyone to lay one in. He's going to break the record, and it's going to be off some pitcher who challenges him.

Any pitcher who does "lay it in" probably would get in

ISU places ground defense before Reno

POCATELLO — Nevada-Reno, a team that likes to ram the ball down their opponents' collective throat, hosts the traveling Idaho State Bengals Saturday in Reno. Game time is 1 p.m.

The Nevada-Reno Wolfpack has a 2-1 record and an impressive running attack led by 195-pound halfback Earnie O'Leary, who has 450 yards and averages 5.8 per carry. Fullback Mike Balentine has 217 yards and a 6.8 average.

Last week Nevada beat Chico State 33-3 and had three touchdowns called back by penalties. Quarterback Gene Watkins can throw the ball. Last year he became the first Nevada quarterback in many years to complete 50 per cent of his tosses, and has hit 12 of 26 for 235 yards in 1973, besides rushing for 126 yards more.

Idaho State Coach Bob Griffin likens Nevada to ISU in that the Wolfpack dropped their first game 31-29 and looked bad doing it to an underdog San Francisco State team. A narrow 17-10 win over Sacramento State followed, and last weekend Nevada slaughtered a good Chico club.

"They reached the level we expected them at against Chico," said Griffin. "They had both running backs over 100 yards."

"Their offense has always been powerful, but their defense got very strong the last two weeks. They have many junior college players starting, and when they are slow to work themselves in the team can be slow to start."

"They will be a real tough test for us."

Idaho State lost a 20-10 decision to eighth-ranked Cal Poly San Luis Obispo.

"We are more encouraged than discouraged with the play against Cal Poly," commented Griffin. "Naturally we aren't pleased with losing, but we are happy that the team finally reached the level of hitting and effort that we want. The game could have gone either way."

Griffin pointed out that ISU's main enemy was itself in the first half. ISU had a third and second on the Cal Poly seven when a penalty cost a first down, and then Steve Boller's field goal attempt was blocked. And ISU was first and goal on the Cal Poly four and a fumbled pletout and a holding penalty cost a scoring chance.

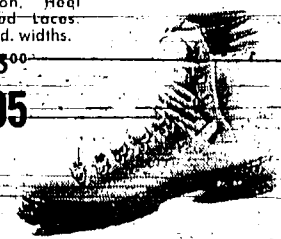

"All in all, it was a good game for us, we had good effort, and the game was a good place to bring us together. We're happy to hit this level with Big Sky competition only a week away."

Mays says goodbye

BASEBALL SUPERSTAR Willie Mays brushes a tear from his eye as he is watched by his wife during the "farewell tribute" given him Tuesday night before the New York-Montreal game. (UPI Telephoto)

Jones leads New York past Montreal 2-1

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cleon Jones hit a tie-breaking homer in the sixth inning and made a sensational game-saving catch in the seventh Tuesday night as the New York Mets celebrated Willie Mays' night by defeating the Montreal Expos 2-1 to take a 1 1/2 game lead in the National League's Eastern Division.

A crowd of 42,000 paid and more than 53,000 overall cheered Mays to the skies in pre-game ceremonies and then cheered almost every move the Mets made during the game as they stretched their winning streak to seven games.

The score was tied 1-1 with Steve Rogers pitching for Montreal and Jerry Koosman for New York when Jones hit his ninth homer of the season deep into the Expos' bullpen in left field. It was his 11th RBI during the Mets' current home stand.

Cubs rally by Cards in ninth

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Jose Cardenal drilled a two-run double into left centerfield with the bases loaded and two outs in the ninth inning, sparking a three-run rally Tuesday night to give the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Alan Foster had given the Cubs only four hits, and St. Louis was ahead 2-1 before pinch-hitter Adrian Garrett singled with one out in the ninth. Al Hrabosky relieved and got one out but walked Billy Williams. Diego Segui then relieved and walked Ron Santo on four pitches to lead the bases for Cardenal.

Phils, Braves tame Pirates

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Steve Carlton, regaining his 1972 form, fired a five-hitter and Mike Anderson and Bill Robinson slugged home runs Tuesday night as the Philadelphia Phillies edged Pittsburgh 2-1, dimming the Pirates' hopes of overtaking the New York Mets in the national league east.

The loss kept the Pirates in second place in the torrid NL east pennant chase.

of the year over the leftfield wall in the sixth inning and his single through the middle in the third produced another run after a walk and Cesar Cedeno's double.

Aaron misses as Dodgers win

ATLANTA (UPI) — Atlanta's Hank Aaron missed by only a few feet hitting home run No. 714 Tuesday night but went hitless in four at-bats as the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Braves 5-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Don Sutton.

Aaron, who said before the game that he hoped to break Babe Ruth's record of 714 homers before the season ends this Sunday, failed to get the ball out of the infield in his first two times at bat but gave the crowd of 10,211 an exciting moment in the seventh when he hit a line drive to straight-away center.

Redlegs drop Padres 3-2

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds bunched four hits to score all their runs in the sixth inning to beat the San Diego Padres 3-2 Tuesday night and give Jack Billingham his 19th victory of the season.

Billingham, who is slated to go for No. 20 in the season's finale next Sunday, restricted the Padres to five hits, struck out six and walked one.

Astros sink Giants 5-1

HOUSTON (UPI) — Bob Watson drove in two runs with a bases-empty homer and a single and Tom Griffin pitched a four-hitter to pace the Houston Astros to a 5-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants Tuesday night.

Watson lofted his 16th homer

Tougher trading rules asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A top spokesman for the Chicago Board of Trade (CBT) today urged Congress to approve stronger government regulation of commodity futures trading.

But Frederick G. Uhlmann, CBT board chairman, told a House subcommittee that charges that futures speculators enriched themselves by artificially driving up commodity prices this year were "blatant falsehoods."

Uhlmann said in prepared testimony the CBT supports some legislation to strengthen regulation of futures trading, including bigger budgets and broadened authority for the Agriculture Department's Commodity Exchange Authority (CEA). But he said the board will strongly oppose a number of other reform proposals.

A proposal to ban personal trading by floor brokers who sometimes buy and sell for their own accounts would "reduce the liquidity which is essential to the market," Uhlmann charged. He said the CBT also would fight efforts to allow government regulation of the "margins" which traders must post when buying or selling futures contracts for wheat, corn, soybeans and other commodities.

Uhlmann and other CBT officials appeared before the special small business subcommittee headed by Reps. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, which is investigating the operations of futures markets and other segments of the farm commodity marketing system during this year's frantic price boom.

In the wake of charges that futures speculation played a role in driving up commodity and retail food prices, Smith already has said he sees some needed reforms.

Uhlmann said an explosion of domestic and foreign demand for food this year put heavy strain on grain transportation and marketing systems and caused "some hardships (and) may have contributed to prices being somewhat higher on occasion than they might otherwise have been."

But, Uhlmann insisted, the fault was not with speculation. He said there was actually less speculative trading in soybeans in 1973 than in 1972.

Uhlmann said an explosion of domestic and foreign demand for food this year put heavy strain on grain transportation and marketing systems and

TF aide funded

TWIN FALLS — A federal grant has been received in Twin Falls County's extension service to hire a part-time assistant to help develop a 4-H program in the city of Twin Falls.

Lyn Merrick, extension agent, said the funds will provide for a person to work in neighborhoods in the city to help start new clubs, explain 4-H programs and conduct other duties incidental to 4-H work.

The individual selected must be an adult with basic knowledge of 4-H work, Merrick said. He is now accepting applications at the County agent's office in the old hospital building, 634 Addison Ave. W.

Wheat prices surge

DENVER, Colo. — Cash bids to wheat growers remained strong with price advances of 15 to 20 cents common in grain trading last week according to the Agricultural Marketing Service, Denver, Colo.

A report issued by the service said some weakness was noted early in the trading period but it was quickly overcome by active buying by exporters and millers. Farm selling remained light as farmers put more time on planting and reseeded operations than on selling.

Completeness of planting operations varies greatly with a range of 25 to 90 per cent reported.

Corn prices average 20 to 30 cents higher. Available supplies are short with the new harvest still about two weeks away.

Prices paid to farmers in cents per bushel for No. 1 hard winter wheat are given for Denver, 445-450; nearby Denver-east, 435; Southeastern Colorado, 459-476; east central Colorado, 415-445; Fort Morgan to Wray, 424-440; Northeastern Colorado, 440-457; southwestern Kansas, 469-473; western Nebraska, 445-455.

Awaiting harvest

THIS BEET dump at Cedar Crossing east of Buhl is a broad expanse of ground, bare save scattered sandbur plants. But in a few more days sugar beets from Magic Valley fields will be piled there, awaiting shipment to sugar plants for processing.

MV beet harvest due early October start

ODGEN — Amalgamated Sugar Co. officials said today the 1973 sugar beet harvest will begin next week.

The company will begin receiving beets in the Nyssa Ore. and Mini-Cassia districts on Oct. 3. Beet deliveries from the Nampa, Elwyhee, and Twin Falls districts will begin on Oct. 8.

With normal weather, we are planning to complete our 1973 beet harvest around Thanksgiving," agriculture vice president Henry Zobel said.

Until the fall weather cools, the harvesting of beets will be conducted on a scheduled basis with all beets going directly to the factories. Later in October, the growers and agriculture personnel at each district will begin plucking operations at sixty-three of the company's eighty-five receiving stations.

Zobel said each of the company's four sugar factories will begin operations within 24 hours of receiving their initial beet loads. Shortly thereafter, the factories will begin three-shift, seven-day-a-week operations that will run through the latter part of January, 1974.

The tonnage for this year's crop is estimated to be about 17 per cent less than last year's 22.1 tons per acre, which was one of the company's highest yields in recent years.

In preparation for the 1973 sugar campaign at each factory, the company has converted much of its power generating equipment and machinery from natural gas to coal. The company made this move to support newly established priorities on the consumption of natural gas for this and subsequent winters.

This conversion, however, has required the company to spend close to $1.5 million this year in new air pollution control equipment to contain the discharge effluents that will be created by using coal to power the boilers at each factory.

These early beet crop preparations have repeatedly produced higher yields for growers, he said.

Rain aids, hurts Gem harvesting

BOISE (UPI) — Rains that fell throughout the state last week were both a help and hindrance to agriculture, a federal crop report said today.

They assisted dryland forage and ground preparation for fall seeding. But they delayed temporarily harvesting operations throughout the state.

Culling and marketing of cattle continued to be active in the north, the report said, because of forage shortages and high feed costs.

Electrical shortage possible in area, BPS aide tells Burley chamber

BURLEY — There is a distinct possibility of an electrical shortage in this area by February or March, Burley Chamber of Commerce members were told Monday.

Guy Hughes, Bonneville Power Administration (BPA) public utilities specialist, told chamber members that reservoirs serving the BPA lack 16 billion kilowatt-hours of power and the region will be lacking that much for the next 20 months.

The shortage, Hughes said, stemmed from the lowest level of run-off in the region in the last 94 years.

Although an extremely heavy rainfall or snowpack this fall and winter could forestall the shortage, the water level could continue to deteriorate rather than improve, he said.

The area will face a "critical" energy period for the next 10 to 12 years, he said, because of the time required to construct steam generating equipment to supplement hydro-electric sources. The area, he said, has nearly reached the load limit for hydro-electric power.

Hughes told chamber members that by reducing their consumption of power by at least 25 per cent beginning immediately both in their businesses and their homes, the area could be carried through the 20-month critical period.

Mandatory curtailments will face the Northwest if voluntary curtailments are not successful, he said.

Oregon and Washington have already instructed their public utilities commissions to draw up plans for mandatory curtailments, he said. Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon has already ordered that businesses turn off outdoor display lighting at night.

Some businesses have already voluntarily curtailed outdoor lighting, Hughes said, and others have, for example, reduced lighting in halls and passageways, rounded up schedules to avoid peak use hours, or conducted critical analysis to institute programs of energy conservation through avoiding waste.

BPA is discouraging use, for at least the upcoming season, he said, of all electrical Christmas decorations.

In the home, curtailed use of electrical energy in water heating and space heating would cut down two of the highest areas of power use, he told the chamber. Hughes suggested that everyone turn down their thermostats to 60 degrees this winter.

"Some of these actions will represent a little self-sacrifice," he said.

"The situation is serious and anything we can do will help us now save that water so it can be available at a more critical time," he said.

If mandatory curtailments are necessary, the public utilities commissions in the states will probably have the "so-called supreme authority" in establishing the curtailments, he said.

BERLIN, Dec. 8 (UPI)—A Nazi military spokesman said tonight Germany had abandoned attempts to capture Moscow for this winter.

The military spokesman said large scale operations by Germany on the eastern front have been ended for this winter.

Moscow, he said flatly, "will not be captured before spring."

He said the early start of the severe Russian winter caused the Germans to make this decision.

The spokesman said he was not implying that Germany would cease fighting in the east or seek an armistice, but said that Germany, hence

GUAM, Aug. 8 (UPI)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, today announced that he was taking over control of all army forces in the Pacific.

The navy statement said that the command of the Pacific was transferred to Nimitz at a conference here from July 21 to 23.

Youth, 19, Shot In Head; Survives

Wayne, Wis., 10-23—A young man, 19, was shot in the head today in the Twin Falls area when he stepped in front of a car.

The bullet, fired by a companion, struck him in the head during target practice.

The bullet from the rifle struck him in the left ear and knocked him down.

He was rushed to the Twin Falls county general hospital for treatment, but his condition was improved sufficiently Monday morning to permit him to return to his home.

The rifle bullet that struck him was fired by Marvin Praeler, 304 Third avenue west.

Steele declared that the mishap was an accident, adding that he walked in front of the weapon before he thought.

Seven stitches were required to close the gash that it ripped across the side of his head. The bullet, however, did not penetrate the skull.

Mickey Rooney, Movie Star Here for Rest, Fishes in Canal—and Gets Mud

By O. A. KELNER

Enjoying his first vacation in his adopted city of Twin Falls, Mickey Rooney, movie star and featured player, today rode the galloping goose of fate with a fishing rod in his hand.

The Union Pacific Motor Train Co. yesterday morning "sent down" the first home-of-the-cousin-Mickey train to the city.

R. K. Anderson, changed clothes, went fishing in the nearby canal without any luck except acquiring a "40 winks" of sleep and was awakened as I visited in the late afternoon.

A fishing on a train makes no sense because I can't cast a line. Mickey, however, is a different story. He is a fisherman and he is a movie star.

NEW ATOMIC BOMB HITS JAPS

Petain's Aims Get Defender

PARIS, Aug. 6 (AP)—Prince Xavier of Bourbon-Parma testified today that Marshal Henri Philippe Petain's orders caused the release of thousands of Frenchmen from concentration camps in central France.

Prince Xavier, brother of Empress Zita of Austria and uncle of Archduke Otto, was the second witness at the trial of Petain now in its third week. He returned recently from Dachau.

The prince said that if Petain had not signed the armistice with Germany in 1940, Frenchmen would have suffered the same fate as the Poles.

Wanted to Join Allies

Xavier told the jury in the French high court hearing Petain's trial that the old marshal "wanted to wait until the allies came and then join in the attack against Germany."

Charles LaCaulle, the first witness today, testified that France had only 50 planes and no tank in Indo-China for the defense of the country, which was invaded.

Petain fell asleep while LaCaulle droned on about the actions of the armistice commission at Westphalen.

Prince Xavier attacked French communists, charging they seem to claim a monopoly on the resistance movement. But the uncle of France replied, "You need only open the eyes of French youth to see how many noble youths have gone in the resistance movement."

As a member of the resistance, Xavier said, "I want to see the end of France, who told me to try to save France."

"I am doing what I can to save France in this deplorable situation," he said, "but I am not going to have to revert to the republic."

He said Petain complained he could do nothing at Vichy because all his letters are opened, his phone calls are tapped and his public utterances controlled.

LaCaulle testified that in January, 1942, Petain's cabinet sent a military mission to the United States. He was Prime Minister, Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden twice the witness said.

"His task was to obtain navigation and employment during the quiet that followed in the wake of surrender," he said, "machine guns and bayonets, who tried to kill him, but the scheme of strikers to halt all trucks by force today."

Plodding pavement in the gray light of early morning, 1000 men tried to enforce military rule on strikers. They went to headquarters of the drivers. Troops arrested two ringleaders, confiscated 40 automobiles and dispersed several scores of occupants.

Program Reported

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6 (AP)—Program towards formulation of a definite program, listing points to be arbitrated was reported here today by William J. Lewis, district president of the International Longshoremen's association, whose membership ended their long walkout Tuesday by returning to work.

Officers of the I. L. L. Lewis said, will present a list of demands on which they based their strike demands to employers by tomorrow night.

The announcement by Lewis followed a day of bickering over both sides, to the strike, and which interrupted direct negotiations between longshoremen and the employers.

The two groups had scheduled a joint meeting for 3 p. m. today in the hope of ironing out some of the issues, but the conference was cancelled by the waterfront employers' union. Both groups, instead, returned to the waterfront offices for further argument on the discrimination.

The board, meanwhile, delayed arbitration procedure, probably until after the longshoremen and employers have the opportunity to settle as far as possible among themselves.

Prosecutor's Office Investigates Use of Names of Mae West and Brigham Young in Medicine Sale

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6 (AP)—On complaint of the state board of health, two men accused of using the names of Mae West and Brigham Young in advertising for certain medicines were held today in the prosecutor's office under investigation.

The men were identified by authorities as R. C. Remington and R. C. Van Meter, owners of the Remington Medicine Company, manufacturers of the "Mae West" and "Brigham Young" brand of medicine.

Deputy City Prosecutor Frank Potter said he will file complaints charging the men with violating the pure food and drug act. Unless the men lodge a complaint, they will be charged with a misdemeanor.

At the hearing, it was said some 30 local Mormon churches had complained to the prosecutor's office against use of Young's name by the medicine company. Potter said the company had used the name of Young in its advertising.

Cavanah Hears Suit in Equity Against Twin Falls Couple

BOISE, Aug. 6 (AP)—A suit in equity brought by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cavanah of Three Rivers, Mich., against Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Malone of Twin Falls, was heard by Judge C. C. Cavanah in federal district court here today.

The plaintiffs ask for judgment of $100,000 principal, $100,000 interest and $400 attorneys' fees.

The suit seeks enforcement of a mortgage on a 160-acre farm property in Idaho, which the plaintiffs claim was sold to the defendant couple by the plaintiffs' son, who is now in the military service.

The suit also seeks an injunction restraining the defendant couple from operating on the property and asking for appointment of a receiver.

Mr. and Mrs. Malone are represented by R. P. Perry and J. P. Thomas of Twin Falls.

Toll Removal Poll Shows Overwhelming 'Yes' Total

Serving emphatic warning on state officials balking toll removal at the Twin Falls-Jerome intercounty bridge, public sentiment of farmers and city dwellers contacted in a south central Idaho poll showed an overwhelming total this afternoon in favor of toll abolition.

The vote in towns outside Twin Falls showed 84 per cent in favor of removing the rim-to-rim toll. Within Twin Falls, approximately 1,000 additional ballots showed a unanimous verdict of approval. Results of the mail ballot were announced by the Twin Falls-Jerome intercounty bridge committee, consisting of representatives from Jerome, Twin Falls, Kimberly, Piler and Buhl. That group mailed out the ballots shortly after the middle of June. Tabulation of returns was completed today.

The results outside Twin Falls:

Total voting for toll removal—2,100.
Total against—388.
Ballots voted out—99.
Committee explained that many of the mail ballot returns were "yes" by hand and wife, and that this fact boosted the vote of approval to nearly 5,000. Many of the "no" votes, it was further explained, carried notations in the effort that disapproval was voiced not because the voters were against toll removal but because they regarded the price for state purchase of the bridge as too high.

Twin Falls and three other communities in the poll were listed as unanimous in favoring toll removal. The other three were Ketchum, Bellevue and Oannett. Tabulated percentages of approval in other communities with their nearby rural routes:

Malley—88 per cent in favor.
Dietrich—88 per cent in favor.
Wendell—84 per cent in favor.
Jerome—84 per cent in favor.
Shoshone—84 per cent in favor.
Cary—82 per cent in favor.
Clodding—81 per cent in favor.
Hickfield—80 per cent in favor.
Castelford—80 per cent in favor.
Eden—80 per cent in favor.
Buhl—80 per cent in favor.
Miscellaneous—88 per cent in favor.

Because Piler and Kimberly so closely adjoin Twin Falls, ballots were not mailed to those areas since sentiment in those communities paralleled that in Twin Falls on the bridge toll removal count region said. The 7,000 ballots returned in Twin Falls were those returned from the coupons carried in the Idaho Evening Times and the Twin Falls News.

Idaho's Wheat Yield Termed Above Normal

BOISE, Idaho, July 14 (AP)—Idaho's wheat crop was estimated today to be one-fourth larger than the average for the last 10 years, by Richard C. Ross, department of agriculture statistician. Ross forecast the crop as of July 1, at 207,000 bushels, compared with a 10-year average of 247,000 bushels. The higher forecast was based on generally excellent growing conditions and late acreage of winter wheat. The potato crop is expected to be slightly smaller than in 1972. Ross said "Average is about the same as last year, but lower average yields are expected."

MRS. ROOSEVELT SORRY FOR WORLD

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, smiling and composed today, before ladies attending the annual Tulip show charity tea at the Bulgrove club. Mrs. Roosevelt had just received a telephone call, she explained, from her husband at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue. Now I am called back to the White House, and I want to apologize for leaving before this very delightful concert is finished, the guest of honor said.

The hostess, Mrs. Julius Allen Dougherty, was sorry that the first lady had to leave. It was 10 minutes later before she knew the reason why. That was just about the time that Mrs. Roosevelt had arrived at the White House where she learned that the President was dead. Mrs. Roosevelt had left in high spirits. She was wearing a raspberry red dress, highlighted by several orchids presented her by the ladies of the club.

Back at the White House she was composed. There were two grueling hours before she left by airplane for Warm Springs. With pride in her voice and in her bearing, she said: "I am more sorry for the people of the country and the world than I am for us."

Calm Signals Heard on Los Angeles Radio

By MILLER MOLLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3 (UPI)——The calm radio voice of Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan, reported heard in Los Angeles calling for their lost plane in the South Pacific, spurred hope today that they were still alive and gave impetus to a far-flung search by sea and air.

A powerful navy seaplane roared from Honolulu toward Howland island to aid the coast guard cutter Itasca in the hunt which started yesterday when the plane over-shot Howland on an attempted round-world flight and dropped fuelless, alight into the ocean or on some isolated island.

Two United States warships were speeding to Howland, leaving Johnston at Pearl Harbor ready to depart at a moment's notice.

Peterson Not Overboard

Earhart's Husband, George Peterson, maintaining a constant vigil at Oakland airport, was not convinced, however, that the voice was that of either Earhart or Noonan, his navigator.

He also was not certain that the plane had actually sent out signals and dash signals reportedly picked up by coast guard stations by the British warship Achilles and the freighter New Zealand.

"I would be tremendously glad if the plane were found, but I am not sure it is. The plane is obviously down somewhere, and I am sure it is a tragedy. I would like to see it."

CANNOT GO BACK TO OLD METHODS, FARLEY ASSERTS

BOHSE, July 14 (Special)—Following the opinion that the United States is "catching up" in the process of social progress and that the reason can make no return to the old methods, Postmaster General James A. Farley last night addressed a group of business leaders here for a dinner and speech.

Farley, who was principal speaker at the dinner, said he was here on his way to Salt Lake City, where he will be speaking at the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Farley, who was principal speaker at the dinner, said he was here on his way to Salt Lake City, where he will be speaking at the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Lions Club Starts

The program marked establishment of a Lions Club here, sponsored by the Twin Falls organization, many members of which were present. Among Lions officials visiting were Rulon Dunn, Preston, district governor-elect and Win. Oline, Boise, district governor. Charles C. Shaw, attorney, was installed as president of the new organization. William H. Reed, Twin Falls, served as toastmaster.

In his address, Farley forcibly stated the position of the government in cooperation between government and business, and between capital and labor.

This country has lagged in the process of social progress. Now it is catching up. There can be no return to the old methods.

The real job to be done is to get going again on a national scale. Our business objective is the making of profits. We cannot expect commerce and industry to devote itself to altruism. Nor can we expect government to sacrifice purely for the many for the exclusive benefit of the few.

No Use Complaining

"There is no solution of the problem in railing at government or for that matter, in government railing at business. Neither can property alone—it must come by cooperation. This government is as (Continued on Page 11, Column 1)

'FRIEND' STAMP GIVEN TO POPE

BOHSE, Idaho, July 14 (UP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley today placed the national administration's stamp of "my friend" upon Idaho's junior senator, James P. Pope.

Addressing 550 persons at a breakfast in his honor, the Democratic national chairman avoided any discussion of Idaho's coming primary election, but spoke highly of Senator Pope's work during his six years in the national capital.

"I say to you in all sincerity, there is no other senator in Washington who has been more loyal and generous in his support of the administration during the time he has been there than has been Jim Pope," the President is deeply grateful.

Farley made no mention of Rep. D. North Clark, Pope's opponent in the race for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

The postmaster-general discussed briefly the department he heads, noting that the public is becoming increasingly airmail conscious. He predicted that the government soon would be making money on its airmail business.

Following his talk Farley left by automobile for Baker, Ore., where he will board a train for Portland this evening. He planned brief stops at towns along the route. He was to be entertained for luncheon at Ontario and for dinner at Baker.

Last night in Shoshone the postmaster-general told a Lions club dinner audience that the solution to problems of business recession and unemployment must be found through cooperation of government and business and of capital and labor.

ITALY PLANNING 'PURGE' OF JEWS

ROME, July 14 (UP)—Foreshadowing Italy's adoption of a racial policy exclusion Jews, the authoritative Giornale d'Italia published today a Fascist racial credo drawn up by a group of university professors under the auspices of the ministry of popular culture.

The credo contains ten points, among which the most positive are that the "Italian race" is of "Aryan" origin, and that "Italian Jew" cannot be considered to belong to the Aryan race.

The credo says that the time has arrived when Italian must adopt a racial policy. Since the credo was elaborated under supervision of the ministry, it was interpreted as having an official character.

President Urges 1939 Peace Move

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14 (UP)—President Roosevelt today sounded a call for world armaments reduction, extending a blanket invitation to the powers to join America in such an effort.

"We fervently hope," he said, "for the day when other leading nations of the world will realize that their present course must inevitably lead them to disaster. We stand to meet them—and encourage them in any efforts they may make toward a definite reduction in world armaments."

The chief executive spoke to thousands of California citizens at Treasure Island in San Francisco before the opening of the exposition soon to be held. He hailed the forthcoming exposition as one of the great events of the year in New York as a sign of continued peace in the western hemisphere, but struck a note of warning a few minutes later with these words:

"In two hours I hope to review the United States flag, now at anchor in this great harbor. It is not merely a symbol. It is a potent, ever-ready fact in the national defense of the United States."

At this juncture the President declined huge spending for armaments but offered the observation that the American financial outlay for such purposes was far less than of other powers.

"Every right-thinking man and woman in the United States," he remarked, "wishes that it were safe for the nation to spend less of our national budget on armaments. All know that we are faced with a condition and not a theory—and that the condition is not of our choosing."

Armaments Test

"Money spent on armaments does not create permanent income-producing wealth, and about the only satisfaction we can take out of the present world situation is that the proportion of our national income that we spend on armaments is only a fraction of what it was a few years ago. It is the hope and the prayer of the overwhelming number of Americans—and women and children in all the earth today."

Matamoros Tour

The President began his brief address after a motor tour from his detouring point at Crockett, Calif., to Vallejo, to Mare Island navy yard, to San Rafael, thence to Sausalito and on to the historic Gale bridge to San Francisco and Treasure Island.

He observed in his opening remarks that "confidence that in the (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

Wheat Loan Rates Set by Secretary

By FRED BAILEY

WASHINGTON, July 14 (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today established wheat loans to cooperating producers at rates averaging between 59 and 69 cents a bushel.

Wallace set rates for the loans to prevent a glutted market as wheat harvesters the second-largest wheat crop in history and the commodity credit corporation made available $100,000,000 to finance the program.

The loans, officials estimated, will enable farmers to store 120,000,000 bushels of wheat on farms and in government warehouses, permitting the 607,400,000 bushel wheat crop to reach the market in stages, estimated to prevent a break in prices.

The loan rate was announced after Wallace warned wheat producing nations of the world that the United States is determined to get its fair share of export markets and has 250,000,000 bushels of the staple available for sale abroad.

Wheat growers who did not plant more than 105 per cent of their soil-depleting acreage allotment under the 1938 acreage program will be eligible for loans, Wallace said.

The department will announce a 1939 wheat acreage program in mid-July when wheat is in or out of the ground. The allotment for next year was expected to approximate the minimum of 55,000,000 acres established by congress in its amendment to the new farm act. For the 1938 crop, farmers planted 79,500,000 acres.

The rates included Idaho all counties south of Owyhee county, No. 1 soft or western white, 50 cents;

Wheat growers who did not plant more than 105 per cent of their soil-depleting acreage allotment under the 1938 acreage program will be eligible for loans, Wallace said.

The department will announce a 1939 wheat acreage program in mid-July when wheat is in or out of the ground. The allotment for next year was expected to approximate the minimum of 55,000,000 acres established by congress in its amendment to the new farm act. For the 1938 crop, farmers planted 79,500,000 acres.

Wheat Loan Rates Set by Secretary

By FRED BAILEY

WASHINGTON, July 14 (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today established wheat loans to cooperating producers at rates averaging between 59 and 69 cents a bushel.

Wallace set rates for the loans to prevent a glutted market as wheat harvesters the second-largest wheat crop in history and the commodity credit corporation made available $100,000,000 to finance the program.

The loans, officials estimated, will enable farmers to store 120,000,000 bushels of wheat on farms and in government warehouses, permitting the 607,400,000 bushel wheat crop to reach the market in stages, estimated to prevent a break in prices.

The loan rate was announced after Wallace warned wheat producing nations of the world that the United States is determined to get its fair share of export markets and has 250,000,000 bushels of the staple available for sale abroad.

Wheat growers who did not plant more than 105 per cent of their soil-depleting acreage allotment under the 1938 acreage program will be eligible for loans, Wallace said.

ALLIES AND FOE TRADE BLOWS IN 6,000-MILE AREA

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Foreign Editor
The United States and Britain smashed back at Japan today on a 6,000-mile Pacific war front that flamed from Hawaii's coral beaches to the jungle shores of Malaya and Thailand.
The American battle fleet was reported challenging the Japanese striking force which raided Hawaii with heavy loss of life and naval damage. A great naval engagement was rumored in the western part of America's Pacific Gibraltar.

CONGRESSMEN VOTE ALL-OUT FIGHT EFFORT

Lusitania Sunk Off Coast of Ireland Friday

SMALL NUMBER OF PASSENGERS AND CREW ARE RESCUED

Disaster Brings Horror of War Home to the People of America. American Drowned.

Latest Figures in Loss

London, May 8.—The best available information today sets forth the Lusitania had 1961 passengers and 816 crew members, a total of 2777 aboard. The admiral's statement places the survivors at 144. A later report from Ireland said 46 more had been brought in, making 190 known survivors and the death toll 2731.

Queensdown, May 8.—Various crafts from the place where the Lusitania sank returned here today. All brought survivors. The latest boats brought mostly the bodies of dead picked up from the water. The dead now number 114, many being women. Naval and military authorities here are rendering every assistance possible in removing the dead and assisting the injured to hospitals. The Cunard line manager has taken ample hotel accommodations for the survivors.

Scene at the Docks

Queensdown never witnessed such a scene before. The dead are being conveyed to morgues and the injured are taken to hospital care. The sea is very rough and the weather is very bad. The survivors are being taken to the hospital and the dead are being conveyed to the morgue.

CHAUTAUQUA OPENING NIGHT

Floyd Will Entertain Without a Pull or Push

The Magical Floyd, coming with chautauqua, rank with any entertainer in this line on the boards. By their merit they have been able to secure and to hold first place for many years and their show is greater now than at any previous time.
Floyd himself is one of the most wonderful magicians that ever appeared before American spectators. Many of his feats remain a puzzle year after year and are a greater mystery to those who have seen them repeatedly than which they ever saw them for the first time.
Mohl, the mind reader, does feats in mental science that seem inexplicable. They not only puzzle and bewilder and entertain by their startling surprises, but her performances are a demonstration of great scientific invention.

The music that accompanies this entertainment adds much to its effectiveness and Allard, the third member of the company, is gifted along these lines. Floyd keeps up rapid-fire wit and humor while he works and their program on opening night absolutely does not give a dull moment in it. This is a good "opener" for the week and this night program will be of as much interest to the young people and children as to those of older years.

COMES WEST THIS YEAR

Nichols, Noted Platform Orator, Sold Two Years Ago

Every man and woman enjoys getting together with a group of friends and orators of the kind we mean are rare. But a lecture is something one can feel but cannot express, for if the hearer could tell it in the way the lecturer can, there would no longer be need of his magnetic inspiring, personality behind it and he would not be considered a great orator.

Roland A. Nichols, whose greatest fame has been made with his lecture "The Man Worth While," has every quality needed to be a great orator. Once you hear him you will probably agree with others that he is the peer of any lecturer you ever heard. He has never lectured on the western coast before and it was only by engaging him two years ago that the Ellison-White chautauqua system was able to secure for several weeks this season. The writer heard him once, and for this very reason will not at

BORAH'S BOOM STILL GROWS

Justice Hughes Leaves Field to Idaho's Senator.

EASTERN PIPERS TAKE UP PROPAGANDA FOR BORAH

Considered the Only Man Who Can Unite the Various Wings of Republican Party.

That William E. Borah, senior senator from Idaho, is not only one of the biggest men in national life today but is seriously considered by eastern statesmen and eastern papers as the best presidential timber in the United States, was expressed to the Times this week. Mr. Smith stated that the West while appreciating Senator Borah's ability, does not realize that he is by far the best known western man in Washington today and that admiration for him in the East was his fine record is better known, is stronger than in the West. The following is taken from a Philadelphia daily as the result of an interview with Justice Hughes.

Justice Hughes will be very pleasing to Senator Borah's friends in this state. Senator May 4. Formal announcement today by Justice Hughes that, as a member of the Supreme Court, he is not available as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for President and cannot permit the use of his name, is certain to have a significant effect in England, Republican leaders said today in commenting on the announcement.

In some parts of New England there has been considerable Hughes sentiment growing out of a conviction that he is the best man best suited to the task of winning the nomination in the two parts of the party split and in 1919. He would have been acceptable to the "regulars" while his independence would have suited the Progressive element of the party. Because of Justice Hughes' announcement Republican sentiment for Senator Borah is gaining strength.

Justice Hughes was seen by the Times in New York City, where he had just returned from a tour of the West.

CANAL BANK CAVES

Break in Low Line Canal Does Considerable Damage.

Saturday afternoon, about six o'clock, word was received in Twin Falls that a portion of the low line canal bank, three miles south of Curry siding, had caved and that the water was flooding all of the territory below. The water was promptly turned out at the drop in the high line, but nearly thirty-six hours elapsed before the water subsided. Men and teams were rushed to the break which crumbled for about a hundred feet. Indications pointed to the complete repair by Saturday of this week, although about three feet of water is being carried at present.

Several small bridges and culverts below the canal were washed out, interrupting traffic between this city and Ellettsville on the route to the pole line road to Buhl.

NOVELTY MUSICAL ACT

Lavering Will Have One-Armed Musical Trio This Week.

One of the big feature vaudeville acts and one far different from the ordinary is the "One-Armed Trio," at the Lavering theatre for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The three men, Armando, Ryan and Barry, play a number of stringed instruments with one hand and are said to be excellent musicians.

A noteworthy photo-drama, "The Three Musketeers," an adaptation from the celebrated novel of that title by Alexandre Dumas, will be featured at the Lavering theatre this week. The story is a 160 scenes show fine interiors and a choice selection of nature's background. The photography is said to be distinctly excellent and the unfolding of the story makes for interesting and absorbing entertainment.

The story is very elaborate, while the story is said to be complete and satisfying in every detail.

FRUIT DISTRIBUTORS GET A BIG LOAN

Making Early Efforts to Finance. All Sub-centrals

NEARLY TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND FROM SPOKANE BANKS

North Pacific Fruit Distributors Begin New Season Free From Debt to the Northwest.

The first big loan of the 1915 season to the fruit growers of the Northwest was made this week through the North Pacific Fruit Distributors by the Spokane National Bank of Spokane according to an announcement by J. H. Hocking, general manager of the Distributors. It was for $175,000 and is the largest individual loan that has been made to the Distributors up to the present.

Last season the Distributors borrowed $410,111 in sums ranging from $2000 to $25,000, and during the 1914 season a similar amount, all of which was repaid. This week's loan, to be available as needed, is the first loan of the season.

The new loan of $175,000 was not borrowed for the Distributors, but by them for the fruit growers of the Northwest and for advance on the season's crop. The loan was made under a regular system which has been worked out by the banks and approved by the banks. It is a loan for the season's crop and the banks will advance on the season's crop.

It is encouraging to the growers to know that in spite of the fact that the season's crop is not yet in, the banks are willing to advance on the season's crop.

HUGHES COMPLETES RECORD FLIGHT

Crowd of 30,000 Welcomes Fliers At Airport Base Final Lap Broken By Refueling Stop

By CHARLES McCANN
FLOYD BENNETT FIELD, NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Howard Hughes, first man ever to circle the world within the span of four days, landed here at 2:37 p. m. (EDT) today in a super-airplane stained with the dust of three continents. Like a thoroughbred that is fastest on the run down the stretch for home, Hughes and his four companions roared in from Minneapolis on a 40-mile tail wind, hitting at times the highest speed of the entire flight of 14,000 miles. When the wheels of the big plane bumped on the concrete landing field, Hughes had cut in half the best previous round-the-world record—186 hours, 49½ minutes, made by the late Wiley Post in 1931.

He had crossed three continents and two oceans since leaving this same field at 7:20 p. m. (EDT) last Sunday. His unofficial round-the-world time was 91 hours and 17½ minutes.

HEARING SET ON DANCE HALL RIFT

Vigorous rift of opinion among Castleford residents over a proposed dance hall and skating rink in that town and community will be given public airing Friday, Aug. 12, the board of county commissioners decided today.

The hearing will open at 1:30 p. m. on that day, Chairman James L. Barnes said.

Arguments by those in favor of the dance hall played by Alfred C. Tomlin and private by those against it will be given equal hearing, the chairman asserted.

Tomlin has filed application for county license and has paid the fee. The application was supported by a petition bearing 200 signatures. Previously, after getting wind of Tomlin's intention, a number of Castleford residents had lodged strong protest with the commissioners.

REFORM SCHOOL ESCAPERS TAKEN

Big TIMBER, Mont., July 14 (AP)—Sweet Grass county posse captured 13 asserted Plankinton, S. Dak., reform school escapees in remote foothills on Duck creek, 25 miles from here, early today after driving several shots and wounding one of the group.

Some of the youths were hidden with their assertedly stolen car in a clump of trees, others were barricaded in a vacant house when surrounded by officers.

When the posse opened fire, some of the youths tried to run but were captured. An unidentified girl was wounded in the arm as she attempted to flee.

Charges probably will be filed against a youth who said his name was Walter Hamilton, who allegedly beat Sweet Grass county Sheriff Ed Bartels, and another youth who said his name was Tom Larson, who allegedly threatened the sheriff with a gun. Bartels' condition is reported critical.

Amidst the confusion after the capture, that Sheriff Bartels had wounded William Morrison with two bullets in the arm yesterday.

The group included seven boys and six girls, their ages ranging from 14 to 18 years.

The boys gave their names as Matthew Derby, Bernard Wold, Lee Fisher and Virgil Britton. Names of the girls were not learned in early questioning.

The 13, whom officers said were mostly Indians and halfbreeds, said they escaped from the South Dakota reform school by bartering a road and holding up a man and woman.

Officers said they obtained assistance by driving into service stations, ordering the tank filled, then hotly driving away without paying for it.

UTAH CANDIDATE FILES
SALT LAKE CITY, July 14 (AP)—The battle was up today in a race that will determine who will be elected United States Senator from Utah this year, following a formal declaration of candidacy for the Republican nomination by Claude T. Barnes, Salt Lake City attorney. Barnes was the first man to file for the office, now held by Sen. Edward D. Thomas.

Hughes and Crew Set World Hop Record

Here is the crew of the giant, $200,000, six-engine monoplane (shown above), in which Howard Hughes, one of America's richest and most eligible bachelors, set a new round-the-world speed record. Left to right, they are: Edward Lund, flight engineer; Hughes; Harry P. Connor, navigator and veteran of Atlantic flights; Edward Richard Stoddard, radio engineer; and Elmer H. Hran. (Tommy) Thurlow, co-pilot.

NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKENHUT, N. J., May 7 (UP)—The skeleton of the dirigible Hindenburg today yielded the bodies of two more victims, one a woman, who were burned in the explosion and fire that wrecked the German airliner at dusk yesterday, and brought the ship to 38 dead or unaccounted for.
Twenty-nine bodies had been recovered. Three were missing, probably cremated in the intense heat of hydrogen and fuel oil which flamed through the 800-foot airship.

WPA, PWA HEADS WILL HELP CITY

State Chiefs Inform Chapin They Will Help Secure City Projects

Both Jan. 10, state WPA director and J. V. O'Leary, state PWA head, this afternoon were quoted as willing to aid Twin Falls in securing any projects which the city might desire to undertake. It was revealed by Mayor Leon A. Chapin after his return from Boise where he conferred with state officials yesterday.

Mayor Chapin was accompanied to Boise by F. O. Thompson, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce and Marshall Chapman, city attorney.

"While in Boise the officials also conferred with Atty. Gen. J. W. Taylor relative to whether the state was following up the suggestion made by Twin Falls leaders as to the condemnation and survey of property on which the inter-county bridge rests.

Mr. Hood informed the officials that WPA funds were still available for projects which the city of Twin Falls might desire to undertake. The same assurance was given the officials by the PWA head who explained the different setup under which that organization is now operating.

According to Mayor Chapin the practice of making grants equal to 45 per cent of the project cost is being replaced in general by a procedure calling for payment to the grantee of the amount of money paid.

Ship Insured

LONDON, May 7 (AP)—Insurance experts estimated today that the disaster to the Hindenburg would cost insurance companies 750,000 pounds sterling ($1,350,000), spread among British, American, German and other companies. The Hindenburg's hull alone was insured for $2,000,000—making it the most heavily insured ship, covering all contingencies.

Solons Agree Draft Finish Not in Sight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—A poll of the house military committee showed today that a campaign for immediate end of the draft had been launched.

Fourteen committee members told a reporter they believed active service should be allowed to continue at least for a few months. Likewise, they said it probably will be necessary to continue inducting 18 and 19 year olds.

Most of the committee members said they would like to see the draft abolished or modified, but expressed belief it must be kept for a while for two reasons:

1. To guarantee the replacement of veterans fighting in Korea.
2. To insure an adequate number of occupation troops.

They added that a demand for immediate ending of the draft would probably still be based on the hope and acute fears for a change of policy.

Their plan however is to keep bottled up on committee any anti-draft legislation until it is seen whether volunteer enlistments increase beyond expectations or the need for occupation troops drops.

In this connection, a special subcommittee headed by chairman May D. Kuyper, reported today on proposed legislation designed to encourage volunteering. It would provide added financial inducements, with increased pay for overseas service one of the chief provisions.

Most of the legislators polled agreed that although the draft will be kept temporarily, they will not go along with President Truman's recommendation for immediate action to continue it with two year terms of service for men 18 to 25.

BASQUE CHILDREN LAND IN FRANCE

Some of 2,373 Reported as Too Weak to Walk; Fed in Batches

LA PALME, France, May 7 (AP)—Basque children from war-torn Bilbao, home sick, frightened and hungry, landed today from the liner Habana to seek new homes and friends in France.

They were brought ashore in batches, some crying and fighting. Their eyes widened when they saw the thousands of workmen, labor unionists and Communists who had gathered to meet them.

Within a few moments, there came from the children in response to the Communist song, the clear notes of the Roman Catholic hymns they had learned in church. A few of the older ones sang the international anthem. In the corner of the ship, raised their arms in the "Red" clenched fist salute as they sang.

As they landed the children were taken to breakfast hakers of the region had worked all night to provide a bit of bread for them as breakfast. The fishermen gave them whole day's catch. Farmers gave them milk.

NINTH DEBARRED LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The British ninth army, which, among other things, stopped French and Syrian fighting in the middle east last July, was a "secret force" in the war office studied for possible use in the event that the unit had been ordered disbanded.

MISSISSIPPI BOURBONS INVITE SMITH TO STATE

JACKSON, Miss., May 7 (AP)—Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York was invited to come to Mississippi to live in the following resolution adopted in the state senate today:

"In recognition of the splendid service of Honorable Alfred E. Smith as governor of the Empire state of the Union and of his fight for Jeffersonian Democracy, we hereby invite him to move to Mississippi where red-blooded Democracy voted 5 to 1 for the chief magistracy of the nation that he might live out his own career here in the bosom of Democracy."

SCORPIONS KILL CHILDREN

MIAMI, Ariz., May 7 (AP)—Two small children are dead at Chrysalis, near here, as the result of scorpion stings.

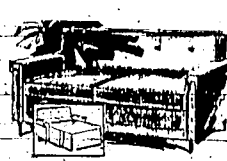

Mixing Concrete two years old, and two six-year-old sister, Angela, were fatally stung in the insect. The little boy died nearly 20 hours before his sister. They were sitting yesterday.

SECRETARY RESIGNS SALT LAKE CITY, July 14 (AP)—Secretary Harold D. Tate of the Utah state board of corrections resigned today because of "lack of harmony" between himself and other members of the board.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

In what sport is a single girl most apt to meet an eligible bachelor? This familiar query comes in again from a feminine customer. Our Lova and War man has researched the matter pretty thoroughly. Charter boat fishing on saltwater, probably. Not only is the girl thrown into close proximity with numerous fellows on these trips. But her tangled line, shaking reel, unbaited hook and caught fish attract continuous helpful attention.

Amish men wear no buttons on their jackets. Buttons were multitalented in the old country. They're unacceptable.

Can you name at least three of the things the six blind men of Hindustan thought the elephant was? Those six things are: A wall, a spear, a snake, a tree, a fan, a rake.

PARKED CARS

Q: "What proportion of the cars in this country are parked indoors nightly?"
A: Exactly 54 per cent.

It's widely known that the Saluki of Arabia is the oldest breed of dog. They're sold worldwide, now. But up to a few score years ago, they weren't sold, ever. They wound up at new homes in no other way than as gifts by their Arab owners.

It has been proven, too, that a statistical majority of the illegitimate children, if they cared to do so, could trace their beginnings to the interiors of automobiles.

That item most often shoplifted for resale is the cigarette carton. Liquor dulls your color perception, coffee sharpens it. It was the Chinese, too, who invented the first toothbrush. Average woman sleeps 26 years, I'm told. Medical researchers say they now can immunize rabbits against syphilis.

SENTENCES

Tests have shown that sentence of eight words is very easy to read, of 11 words, easy, of 14 words, fairly easy, of 17 words, standard, of 21 words, fairly difficult, of 25 words, difficult, of 29 or more words, very difficult. This means the foregoing of 43 words is just about impossible. Sorry.

Q: "Will police look for a husband who deserts his wife?"
A: Not unless she swears out a warrant to charge criminal abandonment. In that case, they'll chase after him, theoretically. Otherwise, they won't end up with a missing person's alarm on him, unless they figure he has been victimized somehow. And should they bump into him accidentally, finding he had taken off of his own accord, they customarily won't tell his wife where he is, although they might let her know he's unharmed.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES:—Early hours present a considerable number of delays. Later, sudden and startling conditions change the tempo, so you need to watch for both influences and sidestep early depression and later breaking up of doubt and uncertainty in a dramatic fashion.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people who will receive many hard knocks early in life because of the stubbornness in this nature, but later learns much from them and the life becomes an industrious, happy, successful one after cooperation with others is learned. Any profession requiring neatness and exactness is fine here. Give as much education as your child will take. Be careful of the diet.

The Stars impel; they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
